61-OVEN COKE BATTERY. "C" battery, at left in drawing of the Granite City Steel coke ovens, has been rebuilt in record time.

Building crafts praised

(Editorial on Page 34)
"Everyone did a great job." That is the consensus following completion of "C" coke oven battery rebuilding at the Granite City Steel blast furnace division three weeks ahead of schedule.
Procedures followed in the mammoth task, involving as many as 220 construction workers, are credited with saving a quarter-million dollars for the Granite City Steel division, a subsidiary of National Steel Corp.
In addition, by completing the project Nov. 3 after four months of work, the contractors and crafts enabled the local plant to provide a greater portion of its fall-and-winter coke supply instead of buying added amounts. The savings are estimated at 15,000 tons over the three-week period.

The project was discussed with the Press-Record this week by Robert D. McBride, Granite City Steel president, who said the task was completed faster than expected and at an economical cost, with full adherence to required quality standards.
He and John G. Despo, vice president-engineering, said they are highly pleased with the outcome and believe it disproves the widely-circulated assertion that this region has unfavorable labor conditions.
Sharing in the praise accorded the craft unions are Granite City Steel's coke oven experts, the consultants who look part in the planning, and the contractor and subcontractors.

FREE DOWNTOWN PARKING has begun. Parking meters were covered effective Wednesday morning in the central Granite City business district, continuing throughout the month. Early indications are that some vacant parking spaces remain available despite the absence of penalties for long parking.

Monoxide hits 14 men at work

Fourteen Granite City Steel employees were affected by carbon monoxide gas which escaped into the air during a boiler replacement work at the boiler house in the blast furnace division just before noon yesterday.
Five employees were admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital, three of them to the intensive care unit, after the accident. Six others were treated at the Nicholas Veeder Health Center of Granite City Steel and were released.
Another man was treated and released from St. Elizabeth Hospital and two others declined medical treatment, according to available information.

One employee said a crew of ironworkers were on a scaffold replacing a large valve in a carbon monoxide line which was supposed to have been clear of all gas.
When they opened the valve, there was a rush of the gas which was believed to have knocked one man unconscious immediately and the man fell from the scaffolding. Two other men attempted to pull an unconscious worker along a catawalk when then they too were overcome, it was reported.

About three bricklayers working nearby ran to the area when they saw the first man fall from the scaffold and when they discovered there had been a gas leak, they attempted to aid the unconscious men on the catawalk, the Press-Record was told.
The bricklayers began rescue efforts, but turned back when they began to get dizzy from the gas had dissipated, rescue. (Continued on Page 9)

Pastor shot in robbery

The Rev. Dennis Rutledge, pastor of Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road, was shot on the right leg during a robbery attempt at 9:20 p.m. Wednesday.

Rev. Rutledge, who resides at 2009 Fortune Drive, was taking a walk with his small daughter Lorretta, when he turned from Jill Avenue onto Carlson Avenue and was stopped by a youth who displayed a revolver and told him to hand over his wallet, police were told.

The would-be robber demanded the wallet several times and Rev. Rutledge told him no.
He said the youth then pulled the trigger of the revolver and the hammer clicked, but did not fire. The youth then pointed the gun down and fired again and it discharged, the bullet entering Rev. Rutledge's lower inside right leg.

The youth then walked away and Rev. Rutledge and his daughter walked to a friend's house nearby where police were called.

Rev. Rutledge was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where x-rays showed the bullet lodged in his leg. He was admitted.

The robber was about 5 feet, 10 inches tall, weighed about 160 pounds, had long blond hair and were blue denim pants and jacket, Rev. Rutledge said.

Final arrangements for the location of a steel processing plant in the Maers Industrial Park at Madison have been made, the Madison City Council was told by Mayor Mike Sasyk during a regular meeting Tuesday night.

"We will be ready by the next council meeting to announce full details of the new operation," Sasyk said. Final plans have been made and right now we are double checking all the technicalities to make sure everything is set. The plant will employ about 85 persons, to begin with, and will employ about 200 within two years," he added.

"Representatives from a second steel processing plant have talked to me about purchasing 30 acres in Nameoki Township and the possible annexation of the property to the city."

This is a smaller operation and if they do locate here will employ about 15 people at the start and this will increase to 50 employees by the end of the first year. Next week the company representatives will be in the area again meeting with local union leaders and city officials," Sasyk said.

The Third Judicial Circuit Court has dismissed a suit brought against the city of Madison and Frank Duiko, chief of police, by Michael Markovich, a local ambulance service operator, who alleged interference with his business, according to the city attorney.

The council enacted an ordinance for a traffic stop for north and southbound vehicles at Plum and Reynolds streets.

A request by Second Ward Alderman Donald Broyles for a stop for northbound traffic at Parish street and Caine Drive was referred to the legal department to draft an ordinance. The city is applying for a grant which will pay 90 percent of the cost of erecting all new stop signs within Madison.

The council agreed to purchase two new police cars from Brothhead Ford of East St. Louis on a low bid of $9,067, and authorized the advertising of bids for a new fire truck.

"We can advertise for bids, but I don't know where we are going to get the money," Mayor Sasyk said in regard to the fire truck.

The council also approved joining the Madison County Community Development program for 1977.

Mayor Sasyk called a meeting of the aldermanic ordinance committee following the regular council meeting to discuss ordinances regulating restaurants, establishments serving both liquor and food, and taverns selling food as a side line as a convenience item to their patrons.

A general discussion was held with most of the aldermen attending.

The question of closing hours also was discussed in regard to restaurants serving liquor being allowed to serve later than regular tavern establishments.

Police will continue to enforce the present tavern hours which in Madison are 2 a.m. on Mondays through Fridays and 3 a.m. on Saturdays and Sundays, in regard to serving liquor.

Restaurants which do not have a liquor license may stay open 24 hours a day.

Plan inquest in death of infant

David Lee Ely Jr., three months old, of 1415 Third St., Madison, was pronounced dead at an autopsy at 1221 Edwardsville Road at 3:10 a.m. Tuesday. An inquest is to be scheduled to determine the cause of death.

The child's mother, Mrs. Tammy Ely, said she believed the child's death was the result of an earlier accident. She said she had been bathing the child in the kitchen sink of their home at about 5 a.m. Monday and had to leave the room for a minute.

She said that when she returned, she found the baby's face was down in the water and he was not breathing.

She struck him on the back several times and he started crying and breathing. The mother told authorities she added that she put him to bed at about 7 or 8 p.m. and he seemed to be breathing normally.

When she checked him at about 2 a.m. Tuesday, there were no signs of breathing or life, she related. She and her husband, David, then walked with the baby to the home of the infant's aunt, Mrs. Mildred James, 1231 Edwardsville Road, and an ambulance was called after Mrs. James examined the baby.

He was pronounced dead there by Madison County Deputy Coroner Edward Werner.

An autopsy failed to show the cause of death. Laboratory and microscopic tests are underway in an effort to find the cause.

Madison police also are investigating and have questioned several persons.

Other than the parents, survivors include the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Elsie Young, and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Dorothy Ely, both of Granite City.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Tells of threats by 2 intruders

Gabriel Gantcheff, 69, victim of an armed robbery in his home at 2122 Edison Avenue Friday, was interviewed by Granite City police in his hospital room Tuesday, where Gantcheff is recuperating from a heart attack suffered during the robbery.

He and his sister-in-law, Helen Gantcheff, were at home Friday evening when a nicely dressed young man came to the door, said he had talked to Gantcheff on the citizens' band radio and asked to be admitted to talk to him personally.

Mrs. Gantcheff admitted the young man, who then displayed a small blue-gray .22 caliber pistol and ordered both victims to lie on the floor. Another young man then entered the house and the two robbers bound the victims hands with shoe laces.

The Gantcheffs were held at gunpoint by the first robber while the second robber searched the house and stole numerous guns, and some cameras and cash.

Gantcheff estimated they were bound on the floor one and one-half hours before the robbers left and Mrs. Gantcheff freed her hands, untied Gantcheff and ran to a neighbor's home to call police. The telephone line in their home had been cut.

Gantcheff suffered a heart attack during the ordeal and was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was admitted to the intensive care unit in critical condition. He improved and was taken out of intensive care Wednesday.

During additional questioning in his intensive care room Tuesday, Gantcheff said he believes the robbers stole a stainless steel pistol, an antique powder-loading pistol and two other pistols, a shotgun, three rifles, a gun scope, two cameras, an extra camera lens and some cash from the victims. He described the first robber to enter the home as very young and thin, high school or college age, and wearing a blue or gray suit and a red tie.

He said he saw only the shoes of the second robber, which were old and brown with rubber soles.

The second robber talked very roughly, used obscene language and said he would not be afraid to shoot the victims because he had shot people before, Gantcheff related.

The first robber said his job was to kill both of them if any false moves were made by either. "We want your money," he said.

The second robber also asked, "Where are all your jewels and Gantcheff said he did not have any. The second robber also asked how to get to the basement and had difficulty finding the light, Gantcheff related.

That robber also said, "You have a ton of ammunition. I want the guns too," and Gantcheff told him guns were behind the organ and under the couch, he related.

Gantcheff said he heard a car which sounded as though it backed from his driveway to leave the scene.

Illinois soil a 'natural' for soybeans

Current research in increasing soybean yields in Illinois reveals that the bacteria which naturally fertilize the plant are doing an adequate job now but probably will not be able to keep up with the increasing soybean production in the state.

Soybeans, like other legumes, require no nitrogen fertilization to produce a good crop. This is because soybeans derive nitrogen from a bacterium (Rhizobium japonicum) that lives in a sac-like structure called a nodule along the plant roots.

The association between the bacteria and the plant is mutually helpful — the plant receives its nitrogen from the bacteria and the bacteria receive sugars from the plant for energy.

The natural process presents an environmental advantage, since precious fossil fuels used in making nitrogen fertilizers are not consumed and there is no nitrate loss into ground waters, which occasionally happens after nitrogen fertilization.

This results in an estimated savings for Illinois farmers of $10 million per year in commercial fertilization.

Previous research has shown that it is possible to select certain strains of the Rhizobium bacteria that are able to increase soybean yields because of their increased ability to donate nitrogen to the plant.

With this in mind, plant and soil science researchers set out to identify the strains currently existing in Illinois soybean fields. They discovered that strains R-123, R-117, R-110 and R-3 currently are the most active in fixing nitrogen.

Strain 123 was the predominant one in most parts of the state, notably in central and northern Illinois. But it lost its competitive edge in southern Illinois, primarily displaced by strain 3, which also has been found in Mississippi.

They experimented to determine if the addition of commercial fertilizers would increase soybean yield, and they were able to get a modest gain. In one location, addition of 10 pounds of commercial nitrogen per acre increased the yield of a soybean field by five bushels an acre.

Soil scientists believe there are other strains in the soil which can fix greater amounts of nitrogen than the ones currently identified.

Since retaining natural nitrogen fixation that can keep crop yields up with increasing soybean yields has both environmental and economic advantages, continued research will be directed at identifying a superior strain that can do the job without the addition of commercial fertilizers.

Early teacher federation

96th of a Bicentennial year Press-Record series) In post-Civil War Illinois, school teachers received little esteem.

Most people considered them to be a group of frustrated old maids and Ichabod Cranes.

As one historian put it, "The man who was disabled to such an extent that he could not engage in manual labor—who was lame, too fat, too feeble, had the phthisic or had fits or was too ugly to work—well, they usually made schoolmasters out of these, and thus got what work they could out of them."

The popular attitude toward teachers was explicit in the adage "Them that can, does; them that can't, teaches."

The dynamic growth in American society stimulated by industrialism and urbanization contained few related rewards for teaching.

But the new forces did create a self-consciousness on the part of teachers which found expression in the desire to professionalize and to organize at the turn of the century.

Teachers were aware that the "learned" or "liberal" professions, specifically doctors and lawyers, achieved their prestige by first establishing a high public regard for their technical competence and good faith, and second, by retaining a large measure of control over their occupations.

The problem of professionalization was real.

typified by the Chicago teacher who commanded her class while drilling them in concert: "Don't stop to think; tell me what you know!"

But in the 1880s and '90s, a new approach to teaching was focused in the training imparted at the world-famous Cook County Normal School under the directorship of Col. Francis Wayland Parker.

Reacting against mechanical teaching methods, he led a movement among those who trained teachers to prepare their students for the demands of an industrial age.

The effect of his work was to begin the replacement of the teacher as drillmaster with that of the democratic classroom guided by a creative artist who motivated each child to attain his highest potential.

He was joined in his efforts by John Dewey and Mrs. Ella Flagg Young at the University of Chicago.

The "new education" turned out teachers who were more professional and independent, and prone to organize to retain those qualities.

The pioneer of the movement was the Chicago Federation of Labor (AFL) against the interests of conservatives, and played an important part in a variety of progressive reforms in the city and the state.

With more than 3,000 members during most of its first years, the CTF was assessed by Charles Merriam, a distinguished political scientist and first-hand observer of the Chicago teachers, when he said:

"As a well-organized and aggressively led group, the Federation has had no superior among all the social groupings of the city."

Gradually, however, the CTF aroused antipathy; and in September 1915, the board of education forbade membership by its teachers in organizations affiliated with organized labor or having paid organizers.

In June 1916, 38 teachers who were members of the CTF were dismissed.

The legislature passed a law in 1917 granting permanent tenure to the teachers of Chicago, while establishing the administrative reforms which the Federation had consistently opposed.

When the Illinois Supreme Court upheld the board's right to dismiss the teachers, the CTF and its affiliates withdrew its affiliation with organized labor to secure the return to work of its colleagues.

Along with many other organizations in America, the CTF and its affiliates began to lose some of its social vision after 1917, Sangamon State University researchers say.

It campaigned vigorously for the election of William Hale Thompson for mayor of Chicago, refused to return to the American Federation of Teachers even after the situation would have permitted it, and halted its effective drive to "reform" the National Education Association at the national level. Membership declined.

However, the organization survived the twenties, gathered strength in the depression, and left its legacy to both the Teachers and the National Education Association as the first effective example in Illinois of use of power to "improve the teacher's welfare and to advance the profession."

Thompson will select fair-minded people to listen to ideas on regulations of the various departments.

The Medical Society during the 1977 legislative session will seek changes in state law to set ceilings on the contingency fee lawyers may charge in damage suits, including malpractice suits. Lawyers, however, claim there are no funds, charge a certain percentage of any judgment ordered by the court for their clients.

Malpractice victims often receive no more than 30 per cent of the damages awarded them after the lawyer's fee and other costs of the court action have been paid, Skom said.

The Society also will seek to shorten the time in which an attorney can sue a malpractice victim may file a suit.

During the 1976 legislative session, attempts were made unsuccessfully to limit contingency fees. The malpractice statute of limitations was reduced to one year, but the Medical Society will attempt to reduce it further to two years.

The Society also will support legislation for compulsory binding arbitration in malpractice cases. Malpractice legislation adopted this year included a provision for arbitration, but so far there have been no cases arbitrated, according to Skom.

"I'm personally sure that Thompson will provide a free market place of ideas," Skom said. He said he hopes President-elect Jimmy Carter supported a national health care program during the election campaign. However, for the reasons he outlined, Skom "can't see a significant change at the present time."

Skom said there is concern that publicity concerning federal payments of Medicaid funds to shun physicians will drive many honest physicians out of practice in those areas.

The American Medical Society has taken the position that where there is evidence of fraud, physicians or others should be prosecuted and jailed.

Some physicians should be taken before the Illinois Medical Disciplinary Board if not prosecuted in the criminal courts, Skom said.

The Disciplinary Board, which went into operation earlier this year, was proposed by the Illinois Medical Society, Skom said.

The measure was vetoed by Gov. Dan Walker, but the legislature overrode the veto.

Skom said the board and its staff are beginning to act up on cases of physicians, osteopaths and chiropractors charged with violations of state standards.

Skom expressed optimism over the Society's future relations with Gov.-elect James Thompson.

"I'm personally sure that Thompson will provide a free market place of ideas," Skom said. He said he hopes

Economists optimistic

By DONALD G. BAUDER

The nation is headed for another year of moderate economic growth in 1977, marked by relatively high employment but inflation of less than 6 per cent.

That's the consensus forecast of economists after the government announced that the index of leading indicators, the Commerce Department's weather vane of future growth rates, dropped for the second straight month in the first stages of modest expansion.

By and large, the economists felt that any change in the current administration would not change the economy's course much until the latter stages of 1977.

Personally, the economists differed over whether economic stimulus is necessary.

For instance, Albert H. Cox Jr., president of Merrill Lynch Economics, feels strongly that the economy is doing fairly well, and believes that any more stimulus now would just create worse inflation.

"There has been no pause in the upward trend of economic activity whatsoever," he said, pointing, as did many others, to the measurement known as "real final sales or real final demand," which is the growth rate of the economy after extraordinary changes have been factored out.

As a matter of fact, growth of real final sales has been rising at a rate in the first quarter to 4.4 in the third quarter.

Enthusiastic Cox, "What mainly led to the current state of incorrect and gloomy economic assessments, aside from sheer political bias, was a big inventory growth early in the year, which was 'too much, too soon and had to be corrected.'"

He charged that the unemployment problem is "being vastly exaggerated by the news media and politicians."

And he sees real (after inflation) growth of 4.8 per cent next year, down from this year's 5.3 per cent, with inflation at 5.4 per cent and unemployment averaging 6.5 per cent.

The biggest fly in the ointment, "Should Washington go for more economic stimulus to drive down unemployment, the economy could be in real trouble a year from now," said Cox.

Robert J. Eggert, former economist for RCA Corp., who now publishes a newsletter, Blue Chip Economic Indicators, from his new home in Sedona, Ariz., noted that the 31 economists whom he polls on a regular basis have shaved their growth forecasts a little bit — but also have given a little haircut to their inflation predictions.

The consensus of the 31 forecasters is for real growth of 4.9 per cent next year, down from the August forecast of 5.1 per cent. But the economists expect inflation of 5.4 per cent, down from 5.5 in August, and their unemployment percentage prediction for 1977 rose just a hair to 6.3 per cent from 6.2.

Eggert flayed "the gloom and doomers who see this through woe-colored glasses."

"Actually, most economists are looking for a second year of above-average growth. It's too early to wave the yellow flag of retreat," said Eggert, who also teaches economic forecasting at Northern Arizona University, would like to see a little government stimulus. "I personally am in favor of somewhat greater stimulus — we have unused labor resources and an economy operating at only 75 per cent of capacity, which means it could be stimulated without worry of inflation."

"We have youth unemployment of 18 to 20 per cent and that's a blow against free enterprise," he said. "You can only be patient so long."

Crime Blocker program here

An open invitation to citizens of the Quad-City area is being extended to attend the "Crime Blocker" program today from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. at the Elks Club, Niedringhaus Avenue and State Street.

The program is being sponsored by the Granite City and Madison-Venice Rotary clubs.

Granite City Police Officer Glenn Wright will conduct the program assisted by Rotarian George Moore, chairman of the project for the Granite City area.

The program is designed to teach concerned citizens how to properly report a crime and what to look for in their neighborhoods to prevent crimes.

Persons taking the two-hour course are issued a Crime Blocker number to use when reporting a suspicious incident.

BURGLAR KILLS CAT

A burglar who stole a suitcase from the home of Joseph Fain 1959 Spruce St., also may have killed the cat found dead in the back yard, police were told at 10:20 a.m. Tuesday.

The burglary occurred last week but was reported this week. The back door was forced open and the suitcase was stolen from a crawl space in the house.

'Insensitivity' to university needs

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville leaders this week expressed strong feelings in opposition to published reports that the Illinois General Assembly was considering an override of Gov. Daniel Walker's reduction of salary dollars but not of academic program and capital appropriations for higher education.

Jane Altes, chairman of the SIUE Legislative Override Committee, said she was pleased that the legislature considered an override of the salary increase package vetoed by Gov. Walker, but noted that academic program and capital needs, also vetoed, apparently were not to be acted upon by the Assembly in its override session.

Mrs. Altes said the salary increase package, which would provide restoration of an overall additional two per cent of salaries and wages during the remainder of the year ending June 30, 1977, would amount to $250,000 for SIUE. This compared with a total of $3,200,000 ($1,130,000 in operating funds and $2,160,000 in capital funds) being sought for SIUE in override efforts.

"A continuing lack of adequate funding for post-secondary education may result in higher costs for college students of the area, such costs coming in the form of increased fees or tuition," Mrs. Altes said.

Earl Lazerson, acting vice-president and provost at SIUE, traced the history of SIUE's budget request and cited its importance in meeting the university's mission. He said SIUE originally sought $1.3 million in operating funds for this fiscal year. The Illinois Board of Higher Education trimmed the request to $33,297,500.

The legislature approved appropriations for SIUE operations totaling $33,211,100, which the governor cut through vetoes by more than $1 million to $32,082,900. The governor also vetoed $2,158,000 in capital funds which had been appropriated for SIUE by the legislature.

"Academic program and capital needs are necessary to the region we serve. They were supported by the Illinois Board of Higher Education and vetoed by the governor, and may not be acted upon for the benefit of the people of the state," Lazerson said.

Ralph W. Ruffner, acting president of SIUE, expressed alarm regarding academic and capital appropriations.

"Not only is equity in compensation for those who are serving the state at its institutions of higher education involved in the proposed override, but the very soul of the academic endeavor itself is at stake," the acting president said.

Those of us who have personal and professional commitments to instruction and service cannot acquiesce quietly to the proposed compromise. We have a public responsibility to ensure that all the taxpayers citizens of Illinois realize that a matter of highest priority would be short-changed in this report settlement.

Ruffner added, "The proposal does not take cognizance of the real needs of students and their families, who also are bonafide members of the academic community and whose needs and rights must be respected. If this is the best the state can come up with, we will accept it. But we do so under vigorous protest."

Steven G. Sanders, president of the University Senate at SIUE, said, "The effort to meet the needs of Illinois higher education by providing faculty and staff with a token two per cent salary increase for the remaining months of fiscal 1977 — without addressing the capital and programmatic needs of the institution and the students' concern for increased fees — indicates a total lack of appreciation for the problems facing higher education."

"Faculty cannot help but resent a proposal which addresses their problem of inadequate salary while neglecting the issue of tuition retention, which is a vital one for students."

Speaking for SIUE students, Laura Lee Ricci, president of the student body, said, "Our elected officials appear to be insensitive to the increasingly severe financial strains of college students and their families, by failing to reaffirm their prior commitments to higher education through legislation."

Area tops in nation in conservation enrollment

According to a new study, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has had the largest number of students enrolled in a conservation course of any college or university in the nation.

SIUE, with an average of 726 students per year enrolled in conservation over the past 20 years, has more than twice the enrollment as the school having the second largest enrollment.

The University of Miami at Coral Gables has the second largest number of students taking conservation, averaging 461.9 students each year.

"While not all that they do do scholastically is done in the classroom, many college and university geographers owe part of their livelihood to their teaching of a long-popular geography course—the conservation of natural resources."

"Enrollments in this course are important to their well-being, and perhaps, in some cases, to their survival in academe," James W. Vining, a professor at Western Illinois University who conducted the study, said.

SIUE has gone far beyond the realm of simple survival, Vining found. "The superlative school in average conservation enrollments during the study period is Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville," Vining said.

One of the key questions addressed during the study was whether conservation had benefited by the environmental awareness that swept the country beginning in 1969. Vining found that it had.

"Research has discovered that the rash of new courses spurred by the growing interest in ecology did not result in a loss of students in the conservation course. In fact, beginning in 1969-70, the percentage of students taking the geography course has grown rapidly."

"Conservation has been a major part of our geography program since the university was founded," James Bridwell, chairman of the SIUE earth sciences and planning department, said Tuesday.

We have people on the teaching staff who believe in conservation and are well-informed to teach it," Bridwell said. "They keep it current, keep it relevant and keep it interesting for the students," he said.

There was such an abundance of natural resources—land, water, air, wildlife, minerals, trees—when the settlers came to this country, that it appeared there would never be an end to them, Bridwell said.

However, the very act of settlement required that many acres of timberland be destroyed. Land had to be cleared for crops and the timber utilized as building material.

"The old frontier philosophy was to exploit the resources and convert them into capital to broaden the economic base. This still holds true in emerging countries," Bridwell said.

"People tend to discount the value of anything that is plentiful."

"When the settlers reached the West Coast, they realized there were no more frontiers. They would have to make do with what they had."

Theodore Roosevelt was the first president to make an impact on conservation. Bridwell believes, however, he did little beyond taking stock of the diminishing supply of natural resources. It was during this term in office that the phrase, "economy of natural resources," was coined.

It took another Roosevelt in the White House to raise the nation's consciousness on the environmental issue again. Franklin Delano Roosevelt introduced several conservation programs. They included the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC), Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) and Works Progress Administration (WPA).

These efforts were more concentrated on providing a "new deal" for the "forgotten man" and his employment than on protecting the environment. There have been "earth days" on college campuses and other attempts at turning the nation's attention to the resource depletion, but little came of it until recent years' focus on ecology, Bridwell said, adding:

"We are a throw-away society. Waste is the penalty of affluence."

"We have to become aware that our resources are limited and we have to conserve them."

"One reason conservation is popular as a subject with our students is the tit is a 'new' course, dealing with current problems of our society. Students do well in it because they basically believe in it and can relate to it."

Daley not acceptable to the majority as statewide Democratic strategist

By AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — "The people have spoken," is Chicago Mayor Richard Daley's traditional response to questions about election results. The question, though is this: "Is Daley listening?"

Professional help aids in business organization

Starting a business? If so, you should give some careful thought to the type of business organization you should develop, the Illinois State Bar Association said.

There are three basic types of organization available: sole proprietorship, partnership, and corporation.

Choosing among these three types of organization will depend in large measure on individual circumstances and the special requirements of the business. It is wise to seek professional assistance to learn the advantages and disadvantages of each type.

A lawyer will help you through the legal requirements of setting up your business and can advise you on such matters as control of the business, perpetuation of the business and personal liability resulting from the business, the association advised. An accountant is also a good source of professional assistance to discuss taxes, organizational expenses, record keeping and other financial matters.

In choosing among the various forms of business organization, a person should be aware that there are two basic forms a partnership may take: general partnership and limited partnership. Each member of a general partnership is liable for 100 per cent of the partnership obligations, without regard to the percentage of profits that

The only two Democrats elected statewide are Downstate voters who are not a member of Daley's Chicago machine. And Daley didn't want either one of them slated!

If Daley would have had his way last December Alan Dixon of Belleville would have been slated for lieutenant governor and Mike Bakalis of Downers Grove would still be teaching.

Now that the election results are in, Dixon is regarded as something of a hero for winning by such a tremendous margin. Bakalis has won wide respect in political circles because this is the second time he has defeated an incumbent Republican.

The legendary Daley had great political instincts, of course, or he wouldn't be where he is today.

But when it comes to electing governors, let's set the record straight.

Many persons who don't follow politics closely thought until the last few weeks that Mike Howlett was a shoo-in because of Daley's "awe-some" power to elect whom-ever he chooses. But just try to name the Democratic governor elected because of Daley.

In 1972 Daley recognized Paul Simon's strong base of support and slated him for governor, but Dan Walker was elected by blasting Daley.

In 1968 Daley slated Sam Shapiro, who fell to Richard B. Ogilvie.

Oto Kerner was chosen by Daley to run for governor in 1960, and, of course, he was elected. But the record clearly indicates that virtually any qualified Democrat could have won the governorship that year.

William G. Stratton was seeking a third-term then and Illinois voters do not elect governors to three consecutive terms. Kerner demolished him. Kerner was selected for a second term. It could be argued that a lesser candidate than Kerner would not have been re-elected in 1964 against the strong showing of Charles H. Percy, but we still don't see where Daley deserves much credit for that one.

If Daley deserves credit for electing any governor, it would be for the 1966 election. Stratton was struggling in his campaign for re-election when Daley dumped Herbert Paschen for unknown Richard Austin. Still, Stratton barely squeaked to victory in a Republican landslide.

In this election, Dixon announced his intentions to run for governor, but Daley insisted that Howlett be the candidate. To be sure, Daley did succeed in his number one goal this election year: he beat Walker in the primary.

But in the process he didn't get anybody elected, either. When Dixon indicated he would withdraw from the governor's race in return for slating as the candidate for secretary of state, Daley said no.

Daley wanted Dixon to run for lieutenant governor so Neil Hartigan could become secretary of state. Dixon nixed that plan, with Howlett's help.

Daley does deserve credit for slating Bakalis for comptroller, because it's clear that a lesser candidate would have had more difficulty defeating incumbent George Lindberg.

However, Bakalis, wasn't on Daley's list originally. As the candidate from the suburbs, Daley chose State Rep. Dan Pierce of Highland Park to run for attorney general.

So as his second choice as a suburban candidate, Daley inserted Bakalis of Downers Grove for comptroller. Cecil Parter was then slated for attorney general.

A great mayor? A lot of people think so.

A great Democratic chairman? Fewer people would agree.

Gum disease is a major reason for loss of teeth

By MARION WELLS

Can you go without a cavity for years, yet be in grave danger of losing your teeth? The answer is YES!

Diseases of the supporting tissues surrounding the teeth are the major cause of tooth loss in adults, according to the American Dental Association. It's been estimated that as many as 30 to 50 per cent of those in the over 35 age group don't have any natural teeth left.

The sooner you start practicing some simple preventive measures, the better your chances of keeping your teeth and putting less money where your mouth is. About 40 per cent of Americans reportedly suffer from incipient gum disease by the time they're 11 years old. John C. Greene, D.M.D., of the U.S. Public Health Service, points out that preventive care can be cheaper and more effective when begun in childhood, while "... the treatment and control of advanced periodontitis in adults is one of the most costly of all regimens of professional care."

What can you do now to avoid a mouthful of trouble later?

1. Note that according to the American Cancer Society: "Tobacco (not only cigarettes) smokers have much higher rates of periodontal disease... and trench mouth, an ulcerative condition of the gums characterized by bleeding, pain and foul odor, than do nonsmokers."

2. Be sure that what you chew on promotes the health of what you chew with. A leading nutritional researcher states: "It cannot be too strongly emphasized that all living cells associated in any way with the teeth, those in the gums, in the pulp of the teeth, in the periodontal membrane — all require complete nutrition. If all these cells are kept well and functioning, the teeth have maximum protection."

Some authorities say that even subclinical nutritional deficiencies may adversely affect oral tissue tone and resistance to infection or trauma.

It's generally considered advisable to include foods requiring vigorous chewing to exercise and stimulate your oral tissues.

3. Practice proper preventive oral hygiene to control plaque. Plaque is made up of "... a combination of mouth bacteria with substances in saliva and food...." Today dentists are pointing to plaque as a major villain. It can infiltrate between the teeth and gums. Plaque can contribute to gum inflammation and eventual loosening and loss of teeth.

Recommendations for plaque control include careful brushing and flossing. Using a mouthwash will NOT serve as a substitute. Ask your dentist or dental hygienist to demonstrate proper tooth brushing and flossing techniques, and recommend a toothbrush best suited for you. Be sure to replace worn-out brushes. Shift brush position frequently when cleaning your teeth, and remember to also clean your tongue. When flossing, dentists recommend a gentle sawing motion to avoid injuring gum tissues.

To aid in plaque removal, your dentist may advise using a liquid or tablet disclosing agent which stains the plaque and makes it easier to see. It's especially important to clean your teeth before bed, so plaque has less chance to do damage overnight. After eating, and following brushing and flossing, rinse your mouth thoroughly with water to wash out loose particles.

For more complete written instructions on both brushing and flossing, you can write to the Bureau of Dental Health Education, A.D.A., 211 East Chicago Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60611 for single copies of a booklet entitled "Cleaning Your Teeth And Gums." They request that you include ten cents to help cover costs.

Consult your dentist if you experience any continued discomfort, bleeding or bad breath. Also, have your teeth professionally cleaned at regular intervals your dentist considers appropriate for you. Make sure he has your complete medical history, since allergies, systemic health problems and various irritating factors may affect the health of your gums.

Raise for legislators is opposed

The Coalition for Political Honesty is organizing a statewide lobbying effort opposing any salary increase for state legislators.

"It is a gross insult to taxpayers of this state that a legislature with such a dismal record on ethics bills should even consider granting its successor a 75 per cent pay hike," Patrick Quinn, Coalition spokesman, said Tuesday.

"Even after 635,000 voters signed petitions to end 'double-dip' jobs and conflict-of-interest voting, legislators killed bills to outlaw these practices in record time."

"The people must teach them the only type of lesson they understand—one that hits them in their pocketbooks."

Quinn said the Coalition will ask 12,000 volunteers "to bombard legislators with letters, phone calls and telegrams with a message: 'No ethics reforms—no pay increase.'"

He said Illinois legislators' $20,000 yearly salaries "are the third highest in the nation, a statistic rivaled only by the rate of indictments and convictions, where we clearly are number one."

84 Lumber Co. reports record breaking year

The 84 Lumber Co., which has home offices in Eighty Four, Pa., and operates a lumber yard at Route 111 and State Aid Route 35 here, announced Tuesday that sales for the 1976 fiscal year will be a record-breaking $225 million, an increase of 22 per cent over 1975.

84 opened 34 new stores in 1976, including five in California. "It took 18 years to open our first 100 stores," Joe Hardy Jr., president of 84 Lumber said, "but it will take us just over two years to open our next 100. We will open store No. 200 sometime next year."

"We are today the fastest growing retail lumber chain in America - and we intend to step-up our expansion rate to a new store every 10 days in 1977," he said.

"Constant expansion means greater opportunity for our associates - and opportunity is what attracts the type of people we are seeking. Next year our growth means we'll need 40 new managers and 80 new co-managers plus at least two new area managers and increased back-up personnel in the office. All of these promotions will come from within our organization, but we'll need new people to fill these vacancies," Hardy said.

84 will have four regional offices in operation next year in Jacksonville, Denver, San Francisco and Chicago. Presently, 84 has stores in 29 states coast-to-coast, Hardy added.

Ask $2 million in injury suit

Stella and Stephen Knoch of Madison have filed suit in Madison County Circuit Court seeking $2 million damages from Norfolk and Western Railroad Co. and Virgil Stull of Charleston, an employee of the railroad.

The Madison couple alleges that on Nov. 16, 1974, they were injured when their eastbound auto was struck by a freight train traveling south at the Highway 162 and East 23rd Street railroad crossing.

The suit charges that the train, operated by Stull, was traveling at an unreasonable rate of speed with headlights so dim that it was difficult to detect from the roadway, and that the railroad failed to erect gates to prevent traffic from crossing in the path of a train.

It also alleges grass, weeds, brush and trees were allowed to grow on the railroad's property at a height which obstructed the view.

Veterans hospital care expanded under new laws

Many changes have been made in the types of services which a Veterans Administration hospital may render as a result of the enactment of the Veterans
Omnibus Health Care Act of 1976
(Public Law 94-381).

The Act not only expanded and clarified "medical services" as provided by the VA, but extended the full range of these services to more veterans, officials said.

A VA spokesman pointed out that new medical benefits for veterans with a service-connected disability rated 50 per cent or more now may be treated at a VA outpatient facility for any disability.

Previously, outpatient or ambulatory care for any non-service-connected medical problems had been limited to veterans with a service-connected disability rating of 80 per cent or more.

Such programs as outpatient care, rehabilitation, nursing home care, state homes, and alcohol abuse were restricted in some ways by the new legislation and expanded in others.

One expansion brought about by the recent law was a broadened definition of "medical services" to include rehabilitative services, family mental health services (when it related to treatment or training of veterans with a service-connected disability) and a clear definition of when dental services may be furnished.

VA's Civilian Health and Medical Services (CHAMPVA) was extended to the dependent survivors of veterans with a permanent and total service-connected disability who die of a non-service-connected cause.

This program had been restricted to the families of those who die of a service-connected disability.

Following is a summary of the more important changes in outpatient care rules.

(1) Veterans with 50 per cent or more service-connected disability now have the eligibility for outpatient care formerly reserved for those disabled by 80 per cent or more.

(2) Post-hospital care is limited to 12 months except when a longer period is approved by the administrator as being necessary to complete treatment.

(3) Ambulatory care provided "for the purpose of obtaining the need for hospitalization" for a non-service-connected disability is limited to the extent that the services are available in VA facilities.

(4) Outpatient dental services for non-service-connected conditions are authorized only when necessary to complete work that was begun during a period of hospitalization.

(5) Payment of travel costs of veterans reporting to VA facilities for treatment of non-service-connected disabilities primarily is limited to those individuals unable to defray the costs of such transportation.

The Omnibus Health Care Act covers many other aspects of administration and delivery of health care, among them a clarification of therapeutic and rehabilitation activities. A compensated work therapy program permits contracts with private industry or other sources to provide therapy with pay for patients and members.

The legislation covers the issue of patient rights and the concept of informed consent.
Confidentiality of certain medical records is mandated.
The law requires non-discrimination in the admission and treatment of veterans who are alcohol or drug abusers in providing medical care in VA facilities.

The new legislation establishes priorities for medical service to veterans, with first priority given to veterans with service-connected disabilities.

In recognition of the increasing age of veterans, the new legislation requires a study to determine the short range and long range direction of hospital and medical programs with associated adjustments in the various programs as necessary.

A study also will be made of alternatives to institutional care, changes in treatment, and education and training of appropriate health care personnel. Research is to be planned to ameliorate geriatric care problems and meet architectural, transportation, and environmental needs of the aging.

News notes

Illinois Gov.-elect James R. Thompson, who last week proposed a "modest" pay increase for himself and state legislators, has called for a "motion to reconsider" after the Senate failed to approve another motion restoring $700,000 in grant money for private colleges and universities. Approval of the override motion must be made by the Senate before midnight tonight.

A decision and the proposed transfer of the Air Force Communications Center from Richard-Gebaur Air Force Base near Kansas City to Scott AFB, Belleville, will be delayed until after the Carter administration takes office.

The nation's surplus of elementary and secondary school teachers is likely to continue and grow worse during the rest of this decade, the U.S. Office of Education said Wednesday. Two beginning teachers competing for every vacant teaching job in the 1980-81 school year is an optimistic projection, the office said.

A study by the Regional Forum's evaluation committee of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council recommends that the total Regional Forum be increased from 21 to 30 members and the Illinois representation go from nine to 12. If approved, Madison County would have the biggest gain in members among the Illinois areas on the Regional Forum from the present three members to five.

BOY, 15, ROBBED

A 15-year-old Madison youth reported to Venice police that at 9:15 p.m. Wednesday near the railroad crossing on Market Street a man pulled a gun placed at the back of the boy's neck and told the youth to give him his coat. The coat was valued at $135. The robber reportedly told the youth to keep on walking and then fled. The thief was described as six feet, one inch tall, thin and wearing a black hat and a green coat.

Though approved Tuesday by the Illinois Senate, university employees are having to wait until later today to know their chances of getting a 4 per cent pay raise rather than one of 2 1/2 per cent allowed them by Gov.

Hearing set on sewer motions

Circuit Judge E. Harold Wineland of Florida announced this morning that he will conduct a hearing in Edwardsville Dec. 17 on post-trial motions filed by Joe Hill, attorney for a group attempting to block funding for new sanitary sewers in Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships.

Harry Hartman, attorney for the county's sewer committee, said he has filed his answers to Hill's motions with Judge Wineland.

workers and the backlayers lowered the unconscious ironworkers on stretchers suspended from ropes.

About 15 employees were taken to the health center and the five most seriously overcome were then taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Admitted to the intensive care unit were James Harmon, 30, Collinsville, Emmitt Meador, 34, of 2316 Cardinal Ave., and Lynn Basden, 38, of 2240 Woodlawn Ave., all ironworkers. They were moved to regular rooms last night.

Admitted to regular hospital rooms were Colin Hahn, 34, of 288 Sunny Shores Mobile Home Park, an ironworker, and Edward Jacobs, 29, of 1621 Bremen Ave., one of the bricklayers who was involved in the rescue efforts.

Meador and Jacobs were unconscious when they arrived at the hospital and Harmon and Basden were described as semi-conscious at that time. Hahn was awake and alert, but also was admitted.

Granite City Steel officials declined to discuss details of the incident or to release the names of the six men treated at the health center. There also was an unconfirmed report of another man who was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital and later was released.

Disturbance was outside tavern

A disturbance involving the arrest of a Madison man in the 900 block of Niedringhaus Ave., Friday night occurred outside of Sammy's Tavern, and not inside the tavern, Sampson Nighoghosian, owner of the tavern, explained this week.

Nighoghosian said the man overturned tables and broke glass in the tavern and was immediately removed from the premises. A disturbance in which Nighoghosian held the man to the ground until police arrived occurred on the sidewalk, he related.

Miss Susan Smith and Edward Walker are wed

The wedding of Miss Susan E. Smith and Edward Walker was solemnized on Oct. 23 at the Religious Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock in the afternoon was the Rev. Terry A. Bell from Memphis, Tenn., a friend of the bride couple.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Norma Smith, 31 Bert Ave., East Alton, and the late Robert D. Smith. Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Troy E. Walker, reside at 1703 Clark Ave.

Mrs. Leroy Heeren played a program of wedding music during the service.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Kenneth R. Smith of Huntsville, Ala., the bride wore a full length gown with a chapel train, fashioned by her mother in white doekin satin with an overlay of organza.

Applied lace trimmed the full length sleeves, V-neckline, fitted bodice, skirt and train. She chose a chapel length veil of tulle edged in lace and attached to a camelot headpiece of matching lace etched with pearls.

Her bouquet was an arrangement of white elegance roses, red Sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Matron of honor Mrs. Kevin Kanter of San Antonio, Tex., a cousin of the bride, selected a formal blue brocade gown designed with a high neckline and long sleeves, accented with a silver beaded braid and flare skirt.

She wore a blue headpiece and carried a nosegay bouquet of blue and white carnations and baby's breath.

The groom chose Larry Gauzen as his best man. Kevin Kanter and Michael Harolan served as ushers.

A reception was held at the American Legion Hall after the service. The rehearsal dinner was served at Ravanelli's Restaurant.

The bride is a 1971 graduate of Roxana High School and 1975 graduate of SIUE. She is employed as a registered nurse at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

A 1972 Granite City High School graduate, the groom is attending SIUE. He is working as a psychiatric aide at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

They are residing in Granite City.

Assisting with the reception were Misses Elaine Smith, Cheryl Gibson, Melissa Bean, Mesdames Tom Boger, Herman Hall, Lester Mouser, Dale Elliott and Kenneth Smith.

CAUTIOUS DRIBBLING by Warrior guard Tom Hennrich (12) helps the South basketball squad maintain a slim lead over the Taylorville Tornados with 2:20 left in the first half of play. The Warriors won their first

'Cardiac' Warriors top Tornados 68-67

A clutch basket by Warrior Tom Hennrich with 31 seconds left to play proved decisive for Coach Don Deterding's cagers Tuesday evening in defeating Taylorville High's Tornados 68-67 in the GCHS South gymnasium.

The contest was Taylorville's first game of the 1976-77 season. South now has three wins against one loss.

Providing close competition in each quarter, South trailed 15-14 and then led 38-37 and 56-53 before Taylorville outscored the Warriors 14-12 in the final period.

From the floor, South made 31 field goals in 58 attempts, and Taylorville hit 27 of 53.

The Tornados sank 13 of 23 free throws to South's six of 12. The visitors committed the least fouls, 13-21, and yielded possession of the ball on turnovers the fewest times, 7-15. South recovered 33 rebounds to Taborville's 26.

Each team connected for six field goals in the opening period. Taylorville made three losses from the foul line to South's two.

Warrior Dave Rhodes saw three fouls called against him in the opening eight minutes of the game while scoring six points. Terry Angle and Hennrich each added three points and John Lakiri two.

Tornado Brett Dallas also fouled out in the second quarter. He had been effective in the first half.

Angle then opened up with five field goals and John Slay added four points.

With seconds to play in the first half, Hennrich snapped a 36-36 deadlock with a basket. Terry Jones substituted for Rhodes as South's ballhandler, feeding Angle with third-quarter passes which the 6-3 junior converted into 10 points to go with four points by Slay. Angle fouled out with 22

Slay, a 6-4 senior, hit ten fourth-quarter points to help South open up a four-point lead, 66-62, with 55 seconds showing

A basket by Kevin Ganey and then Bob Williams' 12-foot jump shot tied the score with 37 seconds remaining.

Six seconds later, Hennrich hit from 11 feet away for a 68-66 Warrior lead.

Williams was fouled but missed both his tosses. Teammate Bob Miller took the rebound on the second attempt and was immediately fouled.

but failed to connect the second time with 18 seconds left.

Coach Deterding's players called time out, stopping the action with nine seconds remaining.

Books for consumers

By VIRGINIA KNAUER

Director U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs. Information is the weapon you need to save money. It can "arm" you with the facts you need to make the right decision in the marketplace. And information is a helpful tool when problems arise.

The following books, published within the last year or so, probably are available in your local library or bookstore. They are worthwhile reading to help you get the most for your money.

While you may not agree with everything the books say, they do offer some useful tips, interesting information and provocative opinion.

The list is by no means complete, but is representative sample of the many books written for consumers.

Better Times: The Indispensable Guide to Living with Hard Times by J.C. Saunders and others; published by Doubleday. Gives tips on food, clothing, energy, credit, health, work and a variety of consumer topics. Available in paperback.

A Consumer's Arsenal by John Dorfman; published by Praeger. A manual for consumers, giving consumer office addresses for states and counties; also tells the consumer how to handle complaints. Available in paperback.

Consumer Complaints—Public Policy Alternatives edited by Sal Divita; Acropolis Books. Based on a recent conference on consumer complaints; discusses such issues as the need for consumer redress, policies and directions of consumer complaint handling, the role of public policy, alternatives and current legislation and laws.

Consumer Protection: Problems and Prospects by Laurence Feldman; West Publishing. Part one covers historical background and Federal regulation in the consumer protection field; part two deals with product safety, the quality of consumer information, consumer redress and problems faced by special groups such as the elderly; finally the future of consumer protection is predicted.

Help: The Useful Almanac for 1978-79 edited by Arthur E. Rowse; Consumer News Inc. Covers a wide range of consumer topics. Available in paperback.

How to Cope With the High Cost of Living by Sidney Margolis and Conrad Brown; Meredith Corp. A "how to" book dealing with food, housing, home improvement, car, clothing, health, education and personal welfare.

The Supermarket Trap: The

Consumer and the Food Industry by Jennifer Cross; Indiana University Press. An update of the first edition including two new chapters and useful appendices, bibliography and notes. Available in paperback.

Sylvia Porter's Money Book: How to Earn It, Spend It, Save It, Invest It, Borrow It—And Use It to Better Your Life by Sylvia Porter; Avon Books. This standard reference book on money management is now available in paperback.

Diocese plans housing for aged persons

Bishop Joseph A. McNicholas of the Catholic Diocese of Springfield in Illinois this week announced formation of a special corporation to obtain government assistance in the field of low-income housing. At a press conference, Bishop McNicholas, in the presence of Mayor William Telford, members of the City Council and Members of the Community Development Commission, said that application for a government loan has been made to provide financial assistance to develop housing in a four-block area of Springfield, bounded on the east by 12th Street, on the west by 14th Street, on the south by Monroe Street and on the north by 16th Street.

If the application is approved, the first project will be a facility for housing the elderly, and perhaps the infirm. Long-range projects may include construction of housing for low-income families.

Bishop McNicholas said that while the first project will be initiated in Springfield, the corporation will be incorporated to function in all areas of the diocese. He said the financial commitment of the diocese to the corporation will be made from the local share of money from the Campaign for Human Development, an annual collection taken up throughout the nation at Thanksgiving time.

MISS MARY URAM VISITS PARENTS AND RELATIVES Miss Mary Uram spent the Thanksgiving holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Uram, 2418 Lynch Ave., and other family members.

She is a learning disabilities teacher in the Pierce, Colo., school system and has returned to her home.

Humane group offers cats for Christmas

The Granite City Association for the Protection of Animals has only one dog and 12 cats remaining at its shelter facility which shortly must be vacated, Mrs. Mary Ann Loftus, secretary, reported today.

Plans for a new shelter are being made and a tract of land has been obtained, Mrs. Loftus said. However, some time will elapse before funds are raised to construct the facility and all animals presently in the APA's care must be adopted, she explained.

As a special Christmas offer, the APA will have a cat spayed, keep the animal until Christmas Eve and deliver her with a red bow around the neck to any home in the Granite City area between noon and 4 p.m. that day.

Each cat will cost $25, the amount of the spay fee alone, Mrs. Loftus said.

Persons interested in giving a spayed cat as a Christmas gift are invited to contact the APA at 877-4594 (anytime) or 931-4699 (after 6 p.m.) as soon as possible to allow for a recuperation period after the surgery, the officer advised.

Tammy, a black and white part-Persian, is 12 years old and cannot be spayed. The

McKendree to hold program on financing

As a public service to area college-bound students, McKendree College in Lebanon will present a program dealing with financial aid on Tuesday, Dec. 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the Upper Denner Center.

Entitled "Everything You Always Wanted to Know About Financial Aid, But Were Afraid to Ask," the program will be conducted by McKendree Financial Aids Director David Krause and will be followed by a question and answer session.

"We've planned the program around the most frequently-asked questions which students have," Krause said. "I think it will be helpful not only to high school students but also college underclassmen. Many persons just aren't aware of what aid is actually available when attending college."

Krause added that parents and counselors are being encouraged to attend. There is no admission charge.

MISSOURI MAN HURT David Allen, 23, Florissant, Mo., suffered injuries to his neck, left elbow and left knee in an auto accident and was treated Monday at St. Elizabeth Hospital. X-rays were taken and he was released.

animal is lovable and quiet and perfect for an elderly person. Snake, a grey, cream and white part-Persian, already has been spayed, but requires an understanding owner as the cat is nervous, Mrs. Loftus said. The dog available for adoption is Lady, a part-terrier spayed female, 3 years old and very lovable.

Other cats ready for adoption are:

Misty, a solid grey part-Persian female, very pretty, but temperamental; Peaches, a playful 6-month-old creamy orange female; an independent brown tabby neutered male; Rags, a grey, cream and white female adult; a black, white and orange female adult cat, friendly with people, but doesn't like other cats.

A very lovable grey and cream adult female; a brown tabby female adult, playful; a friendly black female adult with a little patch of white on the chest; a mostly white with orange and black adult female, friendly but timid; and a playful brown tabby with white and orange female adult.

Mrs. Loftus said the APA is continuing to seek donations from the public to build a new shelter for homeless abused and unwanted animals.

Donations of any amount may be mailed to: APA, Box 1811, Granite City, Ill. 62040. A special project to raise funds also is being conducted by the group, the officer said.

The APA is totally funded by donations and volunteers care for the animals and shelter without pay.

Sculptor is elected

David C. Huntley, chairman of the Department of Art and Design at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has been elected to the board of directors of the National Conference of Art Administrators (NCAA) at its annual meeting in New Orleans.

The NCAA is an association of university and college deans, directors and chairpersons representing over 200 art schools and art departments throughout the U.S. and Canada.

Also elected to the seven-person governing board of the association was Professor Helen Skieff, head of graduate studies in art at Queens College of the City University of New York. Board members of the NCAA serve three-year terms.

Huntley, a resident of Edwardsville, received his M.A. and A.B. degrees in art from the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

He has had his artworks exhibited throughout the United States and in 1976 completed a bronze sculpture of James Madison, the fourth American President.

The Madison sculpture is on permanent display in the Madison County Courthouse. It was commissioned as a Bicentennial project.

Computerized hospital data starting Feb. 11

St. Elizabeth Hospital is joining other hospitals across the United States in contracting to use McAuto's Hospital Data Collection (HDC) system.

Actual operation of the computer system is expected on Feb. 11, according to Director of Management Services Keith Pryor. The admitting office and nursing floors will be affected first.

The computer room located in the Doctors Wing basement is ready. The DEC Co. and Four Phase Co. have completed equipment testing and over six miles of cable have been pulled to various stations.

An in-service program involving "hands on" training will begin in December and continue for six weeks. During this period, "dummy" patients will be admitted.

Pryor estimated that an hour's time spent on the terminal is sufficient to learn its operation.

A catalog and a detailed "how to" manual will be attached to each terminal he noted.

The local system is a data collection message switching system with automatic charge collection.

Each nursing unit and ancillary department will be supplied with a cathode ray tube, which is similar to a small television, and a printer.

As the order is entered on a nursing unit, the printer in the ancillary department will receive the message and print the requisition. An audit copy will print at the nursing station.

At all stations, the clerk will key in the designated patient room number, and the patient's name, age and sex will appear on the screen. The date and time are printed automatically on the requisition.

"This should speed admitting. A clerk also can key in and get a list of available beds and find whether a patient in a certain room is a smoker, is in isolation and so on. In addition, the screen lists all services available," Pryor said.

The mini-computer operates in micro-seconds and has a 64,000-word memory.

"Two unusual aspects of the computer are its ease of operation and its ability to diagnose many of its own mechanical problems, it was noted.

Nursing stations will be equipped with thermal printers because "they are very quiet," he said.

Ancillary departments will have electronics impact printers that can print up to five copies of a requisition.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

Thurs., Dec. 2, 1976 Page 19

"HDC assures accurate and complete order entry and eliminates lost time and confusion that can be caused by misreading poor handwriting, faint carbon copies and incomplete orders," Pryor commented.

"St. Elizabeth has subscribed to McDonnell Douglas Automation Company's (McAuto) shared hospital financial system since 1971. We are one of over 300 hospitals in the U.S. that have the financial system."

Sentence 4 in felony crimes

Three local men and a woman have been sentenced to jail terms on probation in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville in connection with felony crimes in this area.

Howard L. Wallace, 27, of the 2800 block of Madison Avenue, has been sentenced to serve one year of probation for armed violence.

Wallace pleaded guilty Nov. 4 to the charge, which alleged he pointed a pistol, with the hammer cocked, at the head of Venice Patrolman Rod Bauder Aug. 22 in a home in the 100 block of Abbott Street in Venice.

Circuit Judge William Beatty.

Judge Beatty also sentenced Shelia P. Kirk, 47, of Kirkpatrick Homes, to serve six months in the Madison County Jail, followed by two years of probation for forgery.

She allegedly signed a public aid check issued to Judy A. Means July 17. She pleaded guilty to the charge Nov. 3.

Shelia Kirk already was on probation, having been granted one year of probation in January of 1975 after pleading guilty to alleged deceptive practices.

Leo Purkay, 27, of 2569 rear Madison Ave., also was sentenced by Judge Beatty to serve six months in the county jail, followed by two years of probation. He pleaded guilty Nov. 3 to possession of a controlled substance.

He was among about a dozen persons arrested during a coordinated series of drug arrests by officers from five police agencies in this area in October.

Chief Judge Harold Clark has sentenced Michael Collier, 1012 Grand Ave., to serve one year of probation on a plea of guilty Oct. 13 to possession of a controlled substance. An informational document from the Madison County state's attorney's office alleged he had less than 30 grams of a substance containing the drug PCP in his possession July 24.

Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron also has issued an informational document against Charles S. Stevenson, 26, of 2030 Hildebrand St., Madison, alleging unlawful possession of phenmetrazine, a controlled substance, on Nov. 2. His bond is set at $10,000.

Transit for handicapped

A new special transportation service for blind, elderly or physically handicapped persons in the St. Louis Metropolitan area is scheduled to begin by mid-February.

The service, to be operated by Real Independence Through Employment (RITE), will use five specially-equipped vans. All the vans are equipped with hydraulic lifts, wheelchair security clamps and special radio equipment.

The vans were purchased under a grant program for non-profit corporations, funded by the Federal Urban Mass Transportation Administration, which is providing 80 per cent of the cost of the equipment. The grant program is coordinated locally by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, RITE, a non-profit organization, was started 21 years ago as an organization of blind people with the desire to help themselves and provide help to others with need. At present, it is an 80-member organization, with two-thirds of the membership having a blind handicap.

The vans will provide service prior to door, primarily for employment trips, but medical and social trips will be fifty cents to $1 per trip.

ST. PETER EVANGELICAL UNITED CHURCH OF CHRIST, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard. Final services in a series of programs and worship services marking the 75th anniversary of the church will be conducted at 10:15 a.m. Sunday, to be followed with a coffee hour. Evening festivities will begin at 4 p.m.

St. Peter's 75th anniversary service set Sunday morning

St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard, will celebrate its 75th anniversary Sunday with a festive service of worship at 10:15 a.m. Dr. William Kosheva, conference minister of the Illinois South Conference, United Church of Christ, will be the special guest and deliver the sermon, "Preaching the Good News".

REV. DR. W.M. KOSHEVA, conference minister of the Illinois South Conference of United Church of Christ, who will deliver the 10:15 a.m. sermon at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, Sunday.

The evening program will begin at 4 p.m. with a historical display of pictures from the past gathered together by Mrs. Mae Gerbig. At 5 p.m. the Special Events Committee with Don Bellman as chairman will host a potluck supper and birthday party for all families of the congregation. The after dinner program will include a series of skits depicting both humorous and serious events out of the history of the church.

St. Peter Church was chartered on Dec. 1, 1901. John F. Weissenborn was the first president of the church. Alexander Brown the first church school superintendent and the Rev. Otto H. Waldmann was the first pastor. Services were held in the Kinderhook building, where Emerson School is now located. In 1903 ground was broken for the construction of the first church building on property at the corner of 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard. The new building was dedicated on Nov. 8, 1903 and is part of the church's facilities today which also include church school classrooms, offices, fellowship hall and an enlarged worship area. Five men have come from the membership and have gone into the ministry. The Rev. Robert Kettelhut is the eighth minister to serve the church and Rev. H. H. Wintermeyer is pastor emeritus. In 1920 the church was responsible for the organization of a new church, St. John's in Wood River.

Calvin Bartels is currently serving as president of the congregation. He along with the pastor and Church Council invite all former members and friends to attend the anniversary service this Sunday. Ample parking in the church lot. Officers will be on hand to assist the handicapped.

Ministerial meet set Monday

All area ministers are invited to the Quad-Cities Ministerial Alliance discussion of "The Pastor's Response to Emergency Aid Appeals." The meeting will be held Monday, Dec. 6 at the Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road, preceded by a noon luncheon served by the host church.

Some of the resources of the community available to meet emergency needs and the experiences and policies of local congregations will be aired. The Quad-Cities Ministerial welcomes pastors from all denominations, according to officers of the organizations.

New sanitary district to

New sanitary district to begin operation Monday

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

The new Metro-East Sanitary District created by state law to replace the 69-year-old East Side Levee and Sanitary District will be established at a meeting of three newly-appointed board members in East St. Louis Monday morning.

Russell Robinson of Granite City, the only member of the old board to be named to the new organization, is expected to be elected president during the organization session.

The new sanitary district will be established by only three members of a five-man board created by the new sanitary district law. Under the new law five board members were to be named to administer the new district, but St. Clair County has failed so far to name two of its three members because of a political fight between two board factions.

Attending Monday's organization session will be Robinson and Leonard A. Hyla of Madison, appointed as Madison County members of the board.

Robinson told the Press-Record Wednesday that the new district's first major business will be preparation of the 1977 district budget which usually is approved in January. He said the three members of the board will be able to proceed legally in such business until the other two St. Clair County members are appointed.

During the past decade, since the district was deprived of the authority to issue bonds at will without a referendum, the district has been beset by mounting financial problems, with annual operating deficits often exceeding $600,000.

Organization of the new district board will take place following the final meeting of the old board, also currently made up of three members.

The old board, consisting of William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice, Jack Scoville of National City and Robinson, will meet at 10 a.m. in the levee district office to approve all outstanding salary bills and claims.

But in June 1973, the Illinois Supreme Court, acting on an appeal of a Madison County Circuit Court decision, held the split-up law was unconstitutional.

Legislation to abolish the old district and form a new one was passed by the General Assembly in 1974 and was signed by Gov. Walker. That bill provided that the incumbent members of the levee district board would serve out their terms, which expire Monday.

Hereafter, all trustees will be named by appointment by the county board chairman of Madison and St. Clair Counties in which the levee district is located.

The levee district, established in 1907 to control drainage inside the Mississippi River levees, includes Granite City, Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau Townships in Madison County, and East St. Louis, Stites, Centerville and Canteen Townships in St. Clair County.

Workmen's compensation law causing problems

A position paper presenting the problems caused by the Workmen's Compensation bill, effective July 1, 1975, will be prepared for distribution to Illinois legislators, Carl Mathias announced at the Wednesday morning Granite City Rotary Breakfast in Charlie's Restaurant.

Mathias, chairman of the Granite City Rotary Breakfast program, told those attending that he will appreciate comments from members about workmen's compensation being sent to him within the next two weeks.

Robert F. Heisler, assistant deputy director, Property and Casualty Evaluation Division of the State Department of Insurance, was the guest speaker.

Reviewing the changes in the law, Heisler noted that the benefits need to be updated, but that the legislation now has caused many firms to stop doing business, caused insurance rates for workmen's compensation to rise, and caused many insurance companies to quit writing the workmen's compensation insurance.

The law also has caused many industries not to locate in Illinois and to look elsewhere for expansion projects.

The legislature was informed by labor unions, who sought the changes, that the insurance cost would raise only 18 per cent due to the added benefits.

However, according to Heisler, insurance companies were allowed due to high claims to raise their rates 46.8 per cent based on the changes in benefits. The companies filed again for a 9.6 per cent increase, but were allowed only a 3.2 per cent increase. In May, after a hearing, the state approved a rate increase of 24.3 per cent.

In Illinois, 60 per cent of the claims before the hearing board are presented by attorneys, compared to between 15 and 20 per cent in other states. Much of the claim monies paid by workmen's compensation are going for attorneys fees, according to the speaker.

"Another factor causing problems is that the courts have lost sight of the fact that the law was set up for negligence. Now courts feel that just because a person is injured they must award a large sum," Heisler said.

"A medical review board is needed instead of an industrial review board. We now have laymen sitting in judgement on medical problems," Heisler said.

Heisler alleged that the new law suggests that notice of an accident should be given within 45 days of the accident, many are not reported until cold weather sets in. He said this is particularly true in the trade unions.

"Benefits payable must be looked at realistically," Heisler said.

He noted that in one case the entire medical bills for a bruised back were $55 and the claim awarded was $4,175. In another case $184 was the total cost of treatment and the claim award was $4,089.

Under the new law the waiting period has been reduced from 14 days to three days and the employee picks his own doctor, he said.

FLU SHOTS Officials see few problems

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois public health officials say they do not expect problems with A-Victoria flu among the general population this winter as a result of shifts in availability of vaccine against it.

Dr. Byron Francis, head of the division of disease control in the Public Health Department, said that while the only persons who will receive vaccine against A-Victoria this year will be those who receive it in a single vaccine combined with swine flu vaccine, overall it is expected that the population will be better protected than usual against the A-Victoria strain.

Dr. Francis said the information he had received from the U.S. Public Health Service and the HSW agencies, which control manufacture and distribution of biotics, indicated the usual amount of vaccine against A-Victoria was manufactured last spring.

However, when production of vaccine against the New Jersey or "swine" flu got underway, it was decided to combine the total previous production of A-Victoria vaccine with some swine flu vaccine, developing bivalent vaccine intended for those persons deemed medical high risks.

This high risk category, Dr. Francis said, includes first those with serious chronic illnesses such as heart and respiratory diseases and diabetes, whatever their ages. Next in the high risk category are those persons who, because of their ages, are considered in greater danger of developing serious complications — in this case, those 40 years old and over. Only if large numbers of these high risk patients decide not to receive the swine flu vaccine, and thereby also miss getting the Victoria vaccine, would the total number of unprotected persons in the state rise, he said.

Dr. Francis added he did not expect a reluctance to get the swine flu protection.

As the temporary scare about the deaths dies down, he said, "I think the public will continue to respond well."

There was a flurry of publicity suggesting a link between swine flu vaccine and the deaths of several elderly persons when the first programs started in eastern states. But subsequent studies demonstrated no connection and there was no unusual number of deaths among the age bracket involved.

The only impact of combining the A-Victoria vaccine with the swine flu vaccine, Dr. Francis said, is that a somewhat different group of the population may be receiving it.

He stressed that the same amount of A-Victoria vaccine that would have been distributed still will be available in the state, and in many cases still will go to the same persons — those who are high risk and routinely obtain flu vaccinations. Only those persons who are not medically considered "high risk" but who choose to get flu vaccines yearly will not be able to do so this year.

No one at this time can forecast how good or bad a year this fall and winter will be for A-Victoria flu, Dr. Francis said, though early reports nationally and from other parts of the world indicate no heavier outbreaks to date than usual. However, he said, "It is still very early in the flu season to try to predict anything about numbers of cases."

Seek grant for sewers

Edward Juneau of the Sheppard, Morgan and Schwaab engineering and consulting firm of Granite City and the chief planner of sanitary sewers for Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships, personally filed three grant applications with the Economic Development Administration in Springfield Tuesday, seeking grants for the local share of the sewer construction costs.

Applications seek a $5 million grant for Area One, including most of the incorporated parts of Nameoki and Chouteau townships and part of Venice Township; $1,750,000 for Area Two, which is State Park Place, and $1,900,000 for Area Three, the Eagle Park Acres-Cloverleaf-East Madison area.

The applications are being filed in hopes of grants which will pay all or part of the local share of one-fourth of the construction cost. Grants could eliminate or reduce the need for the sewer committee to sell general obligation bonds for the local share which must be repaid by taxing those in the areas to be served.

Chouteau to seek more funds for town hall building plan

The Chouteau Town Board of Auditors decided Monday night to apply for $22,000 in available Community Development funds to make additional improvements in the new township hall and community center building now under construction.

Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks told the auditors funds still remain in the CD 1975 discretionary fund for which any city, village or township may apply. The funds will be distributed on the basis of need.

When bids for the new Chouteau Township building were opened, they exceeded the amount of money the township had available for construction, so it was necessary to take several items out of the plans, including an outside canopy, exterior trim, interior paneling, glazed tile in the restrooms and other items.

Sparks said if the CD grant application is received, all or some of the omitted items may be put back into the specifications.

The board also asked its attorney, Alan Walker, for a legal opinion whether it may obligate future federal revenue sharing funds toward improving the building, or whether it will be necessary to wait until the next entitlement period to appropriate those funds.

Sparks said if the future revenue sharing can be obligated toward the building, the contractor would be willing to put some of the omitted items back in the plans at this time, rather than adding them at a later date after the building is finished.

The building is being constructed with revenue sharing and community development grant funds at no direct cost to the taxpayers of Chouteau Township.

B battery, with 40 ovens, was built in operation in 1943.

A battery, completed in 1953, has 27 ovens, C, with 61 ovens, was built in 1961.

It was the first major rebuilding of the C battery. When work began after the July 4th holiday, it was projected that it would require five months. The A and B batteries remained in use.

Bricks in such coke ovens are of special quality to withstand the intense heat and they must be placed with meticulous care. Most of the brickwork at the battery ends was replaced, and repairs were made to bricks in the interior of the oven chambers.

Major repairs were made to gun flues, which carry gas used in heating the ovens, and to heating flues. Much of the steel in the battery also was replaced.

The ovens were cooled gradually over a period of three weeks to limit damage from the cooling process. Heat was not restored until necessary for initial coke production on Nov. 4, and production gradually advanced to full scope during November.

In the past, much of the heat was retained during the rebuilding of coke ovens, and heat shields were used to protect workers as they tied in new bricks with old.

For example, when the A and B batteries were repaired and improved in 1973, they remained in operation, with work concentrated on one to three ovens at a time and the project consuming almost a year.

The newly rebuilt C battery is expected have an "oven life" of 10 to 15 years.

Each oven is over 40 feet long and 13 feet high. The width tapers from 18½ inches to 15½ inches.

General contractor for the newly-completed work was the Sertel Corporation of Pittsburgh, represented by W. R. "Wib" White.

Subcontractors were Five Star Mechanical & Engineering Co., National City, Oscar Wilkinson, H. W. Kroeger, Erection Co., St. Louis, Harry W. Kroeger, Guarantee Electrical Co., St. Louis, C. W. Oertli, and Wilbur Waggoner Rental Equipment Co., Madison, Wilbur Waggoner.

Consultants were U. S. Steel Engineers and Consultants, Pittsburgh, David Carr and S. P. Curtis.

Crews involved in the C coke oven battery rehabilitation were: Laborers Local 397, Art Griffin, business manager, Granite City; Brickmasons Local 65, Robert Weiss, business representative, Edwardsville.

Carpenters District Council, Madison County & vicinity, Don Gerstmeier, representative, 901 W. Chain of Rocks Road, Mitchell.

Operating Engineers Local 520, Ervin W. Taylor, business manager, 320 Engineer Road, Mitchell.

Ironworkers Local 392, David C. Higgins, business agent, East St. Louis.

Steamfitters Local 439, J. D. Shaven, business manager, East St. Louis.

Electricians Local 309, R. J. "Mike" Faust, business manager, Collinsville.

Boilermakers Local 963, A. R. Mocer, business manager, Belleville.

Teamsters Local 525, Marshall McDuffy, representative, Alton.

Before the contract was signed, the contractors and labor groups met to define the policies that would be followed under the national maintenance work agreement.

Previous utilization of the national work rules agreement at Granite City Steel had involved much smaller maintenance projects.

The rebuilding has increased the operating efficiency of the coke ovens. This is regarded as important because coke production capacity here is 13 to 20 percent below the plant's needs during peak production periods.

HOUSE BURGLARY

Shirley M. Kanakulsky, 2705 Whippoorwill Lane, reported that when she returned home at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday she found her home had been entered and items valued at over $1,000 taken. Thieves entered through an inside garage door leading into the house by forcing the lock. Among the items taken were two televisions, a movie camera, wristwatch, and an antique clock.

Steel boost may cause oil price hike—Carter

Price increases by nine of the nation's leading steel producers brought criticism Monday from President-elect Jimmy Carter, who said the action could prompt oil-producing nations to hike oil prices next month.

Mr. Carter said Monday he had communicated his concern, through aides, to the steel industry.

U.S. Steel, the nation's largest producer; Bethlehem Steel Corp., and Republic Steel Corp. on Monday joined six other firms, including National Steel Corp., owner of Granite City Steel, who earlier announced price increases on flat rolled products. The hikes went into effect Wednesday.

With National Steel Corp. in the forefront, announcing price hikes on Nov. 24, the five other firms following suit were Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.; Inland Steel; Youngstown Sheet and Tube; Wheeling-Pittsburgh; and Armco Steel Corp.

At the time of the initial announcement, President Gerald R. Ford ordered the Federal Commission on Wage and Price Stability to seek price, profit and expected sales data and make its findings public whether the increases are justified.

William E. Lilly III, acting director of the council, said on Tuesday that the companies were raising their prices at a time when demand for steel is weak.

Vice-President-elect Walter Mondale called on the industry to reconsider the increases, which average six per cent for flat-rolled steel. He echoed Mr. Carter's statements that the increases could signal oil-producing countries that the time is ripe for a hike in petroleum costs.

Flat-rolled products are used mainly in the automotive and appliance industries, and consumers could soon feel the impact of the increases in the form of higher prices for those products.

The steel price increases, which range between 4½ and 6½ per cent, are the second on flat-rolled steel in 1976, making those products about 12 per cent more expensive than they were last year.

The auto industry is the largest purchaser of flat-rolled steel, using about 25 per cent of all steel made this year.

All the steel companies said the increases are justified because of rising costs and poor profit margins in producing sheet steel, which accounted for 38 per cent of last year's industry shipments.

"Tree of Lights" stands at $5,934

The Salvation Army's "Tree of Lights" today is illuminated with 237 Glistening bulbs, signifying donations of $5,934 to the annual appeal.

The current amount represents 237 per cent of this year's goal of $25,000, the sum needed to provide Christmas food baskets and other items to needy families in the Quad-City area.

The symbolic tree is located in Nameoki Village Shopping Center, almost directly across from Lindell Boulevard.

Helping to boost the donations today are members of the Granite City Optimist Club, who are manning the Salvation Army's street corner kettles, soliciting contributions from passersby.

On Saturday, the Granite City Moose Lodge 272 members will take their turn at the bright red kettles, symbolic each year of Christmas giving to those less fortunate.

Captain Michael Tompkins, Salvation Army commander, thanked donors for Christmas food baskets now are being accepted at the new Salvation Army Center, 3007 E. 23rd St.

Those wishing to apply may visit the center in person any weekday between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

More than 900 families are expected to benefit from the fund. All contributions stay within this community to help local families in need, Capt. Tomkins said.

Among the donors of $25 or more, are: Herman Luceno; Mrs. Jennie L. Kaiser (two); Mr. and Mrs. Edson F. Wright; Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Gandoria; Irvin C. Slate Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. David H. Thomas; Steve G. Kaman;

Opposition looms in two wards in city election

Mrs. Margaret Norn, widow of the late Fifth Ward Alderman Walter Norn, has obtained petitions as a candidate in the April 5 city election for election to the remaining two years of that office. It was reported today.

Mrs. Norn, if she files nominating petitions, would oppose Curtis Blevis, now serving by appointment in the Fifth Ward aldermanic spot. Blevis also has obtained petitions to become a candidate for the remainder of the term.

Steve Basarich, also an alderman of the Fifth Ward, has obtained petitions as a candidate for re-election to a full four-year term. Basarich's term expires next year.

Mr. Norn, who served on the city council 32 years, died in November, 1975. He had been re-elected to a four-year term in April that year.

Later, Mayor Paul Schuler appointed Blevis to fill Mr. Norn's office, but the two remaining years of that term are subject to election in next year's municipal balloting.

Opposition also has developed in the aldermanic race in the Sixth Ward where Earl Baker, incumbent, is a candidate for re-election. Nominating petition forms have been obtained by Woodrow "Woody" Moad as candidate for alderman in that ward.

Other incumbent aldermen who have obtained petitions as candidates for re-election, thus far without opposition, are William Dallas in the First Ward, Fran Greenwood in the Second Ward and Roy Poulos in the Third Ward.

Select jury in Richmond murder trial

Jury selection began at 1:30 p.m. yesterday and resumed at 9:30 a.m. today in the murder, burglary and arson trial of Robert Richmond Jr., 17, of 2137 Cleveland Blvd.

Final pre-trial motions were heard in Circuit Judge William Bestly's chambers during the morning, and jury selection began after the noon recess.

Preliminary questions to prospective jurors were asked yesterday and some were dismissed by the judge, but neither attorney has yet approved or rejected any of the prospects.

As soon as jury selection is complete, the trial is expected to begin, a court spokesman said.

Richmond is charged with breaking into the home of Miss Theresa Kichler, 78, at 2217 East Ave., Aug. 28, and knocking her unconscious before setting fire to her house. Authorities said she died of smoke inhalation.

Abduction attempted

A young girl who was walking to Emerson School told police a young man tried to grab her at 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard between 8:10 and 8:30 a.m. Wednesday.

The girl said a noisy older grey-green auto which had the rear end jacked up stopped beside her and a man about 20 to 30 years-of-age, got out, walked to her and grabbed her by the shoulders.

She said she dropped a musical horn in a case she was carrying and she screamed and ran away. The man returned to his car and drove away. She and a nearby adult returned and retrieved the horn.

She described him as very skinny and having tan-colored shoulder-length brown hair. He wore a gray shirt, she recalled.

Urges move to reverse court order on Parkview drainage

An official of the Illinois Department of Transportation, Division of Water Resources, this week notified Louis Whitsett, supervisor of Nameoki Township, that he agrees a recent appellate court order to reverse the drainage flow in the Parkview Estates area could result in flooding in that subdivision.

John K. Flowe, southern projects manager for the division, told Whitsett in a letter this week that the township or Parkview Estates residents should find some way to challenge the court order.

"Additional court review would require a new cause," Flowe said.

The township or levee district might sue the road commissioner on the grounds that removing the culvert (under the Alton and Southern Railroad tracks) would cause damage to the subdivision," Flowe said.

Landowners on the east side of the railroad tracks studied the highway commissioner of the township and obtained a restraining order keeping him from enlarging the culvert under the tracks, alleging the work would flood their farmland.

A court order followed which ordered the commissioner to return the roads in the area to their original elevation and to return all drainage to its natural pattern. Whitsett challenged the order, alleging the court was "ordering water to flow uphill," but an appellate court upheld the lower court decision.

Whitsett asked Flowe to study the situation and Flowe visited the area and studied the drainage last month. The letter this week was the result of that on-site observation.

Flowe found the water flows east when the ditch is full, while the court ruled the natural flow is to the west. He further noted the railroad culvert obstructs the water in either direction and if a proper opening is not maintained, there will be problems in Parkview Estates and the Wilshire subdivision, even if the road culvert remains.

He also found that if the water did flow to the west, the landowners on the east side would be added by, and not harmed by, the culverts under the railroad and roadway, which would keep their land from being flooded. The landowners actually have contoured their land to flow east, to the Bishop Slough.

He alleged the court studied only the drainage from 1968 to 1974 in assessing the history of drainage in the area. Actually, in 1965, the ditch was on top of a ridge, he said.

He also challenged the court's finding of natural flow direction, noting "All of the area's drainage is man-made."

He said if another suit is not filed, the highway commissioner should consider lowering the roadway of Stratford Lane into a "dip" at the original height. Water then would flow across the road.

"If the dip is as deep and wide as the ditch, there will be no damage to the subdivision. In fact, the dip will provide a larger opening than the culvert, and will improve drainage, if the present railroad culvert opening is sufficient."

"The railroad should clean their culvert, even if the culvert cannot be enlarged," Flowe concluded.

While away she also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Paul O'Masters in Tempe, Ariz., and returned home this week.

With Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Jeffers in San City, they are all former Granite City residents.

HONORED GUEST. The "Mayor's Ball" will be the final event sponsored by the Madison Bicentennial Committee. William Cusheff, right, chairman of the committee, presents two tickets Tuesday evening at the Madison City Council meeting to Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk, who will be the guest of honor. The event is scheduled at 9 p.m. Friday at the Croatian Home, 1001 Madison Ave., Madison, with music by Terry Dutko's orchestra. Tickets are $2.50 per person in advance and $3 at the door. Venice 5th graders to receive tutorial help Venice students in the fifth grade may participate in a tutorial program starting Jan. 12 through a cooperative effort of the Community Involvement Project (CIP) and the Black Students Association. Both are volunteer groups at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Working with special education resource people at Venice Elementary School, the volunteer tutors will help an initial group of fifth graders from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. each Wednesday at the Venice Recreation Center, beginning in January.

Participating children will be referred to the program by Venice faculty members.

Mrs. Sandy Townsend, CIP executive director, said a successful tutorial program was conducted in the Venice school District in 1968 and continued to aid students over a four year period.

The current project is designed for a one year period, but can be continued indefinitely, if needed, Mrs. Townsend said.

Parents of children to take part in the program will be visited by Mrs. Townsend and Miss Brenda Ervin of the Venice School District before the tutorial classes start, it was explained.

Some transportation will be made available by the volunteer groups for youngsters unable to get to the Venice Recreation Center, the director said.

Plans call for the tutoring service to be offered to pupils in other grade levels as the program progresses, she noted.

Additionally, a Big Brother and Big Sister project will be initiated through which volunteer students from SIUE will serve as big brothers or big sisters to children in the second through fifth grade levels.

There are 38 fifth graders at Venice school, ranging in age from 9 to 11 years.

Working with Mrs. Townsend from the SIUE group is Mrs. Brenda Henry. Involved in the program from the Venice School District are Mrs. Georgia Fairwell, Title VII counselor, Miss Connie Clayton, special education resource person and Mrs. Ervin.

Book review at library in Venice

A free book review will be presented at 7 p.m. Monday, Dec. 6, at the Venice public library, 325 Broadway, by Jean Galinski.

Mrs. Sybil Robbs, Venice librarian, said the book to be reviewed is "Somare Are Born Great" by Adela Rogers St. John.

Programs are held on the first Monday evening of each month, alternating between films and book reviews.

Registration at SIUE to begin Monday

Registration of students for the winter quarter at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will begin Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. in the Registrar's Office of the University Center.

Students with appointments should appear at the appointed time Monday and Tuesday, but no appointment is necessary for Wednesday's registration.

Hacke-Hickey nuptials

The bride is a daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Kenneth Rathgeb of Carlinville. Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hacke, reside at 26 Riviera Drive.

The groom is employed as a drummer with The Philthy McNasty Group. They are residing in Granite City.

and Lynda Kopic. Sterling Schoen will serve as accompanist.

Johanna Lovejoy will perform on the bells and Linda Welty and Gay Wright will comprise the rhythm section.

Mrs. Reimers gives lesson

Honor Circle of the United Methodist Women of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, met Wednesday morning at the church for a quilting session followed by an 11 a.m. luncheon at Rodier's Restaurant.

The group then returned to the church for a business meeting with Mrs. Lucy Weaver, circle chairman, in charge.

Mrs. Winifred Reimers gave the opening prayer and the lesson entitled "When Christmas Bells Ring" by Norman Vincent Peale. She also read an article by Helen Steiner Rice on "Is the Cross You Wear Heavy to Bear?" and closed with prayer.

Mrs. Weaver gave a report on the executive committee meeting and the bazaar held earlier this month.

Others attending were Mesdames Ida Cox, Mildred Cundiff, Eva Evans, Edith Eberton, Beulah Fox, Augusta Pender and Pearl Campbell.

Pack 28 plans yule caroling

Plans were finalized for members of Cub Scout Pack 28, to participate in a Christmas caroling project on Dec. 20, during a monthly meeting of the pack.

The group held Tuesday night at Parkview School.

Den Two opened the meeting by presenting the colors and led the pledge of allegiance. The "grand bow" was demonstrated by the scouts and Cubmaster Dale Ashmore.

The Cubmaster also explained uniform, inspection and procedures to the parents and scouts.

Members of Den Two discussed "Things They are Thankful For" and Den Four explained how they created paper mache knives. They also displayed a large Thanksgiving mural.

Robot awards were presented to John Lewis and Chris Ashmore by Larry Melvick.

Cubmaster Ashmore reported the annual pinewood derby will be held at the January pack meeting and led the group in a closing song.

Three hurt

Three persons were injured in a three-vehicle accident on Madison Avenue at the stoplight for Nameoki Road Monday.

The autos of Steve Rademacher, Mount Olive, and Lee Young, 2108 Elm St., were stopped at the stoplight when the brakes on the auto of Patricia Brabury, 4949 Gaslight Walk, Apt. 4, failed and it struck the rear of Young's auto, pushing Young's auto onto Rademacher's, according to official reports.

Patricia Brabury was charged by police with having defective brakes.

Young and two passengers in Rademacher's auto were injured. Young's injuries did not require hospital treatment and Mary Rademacher, 18, and Carrie Rademacher, 6 weeks old, were to receive treatment later at a Mount Olive hospital.

Judy Goudy with campus dance group

Judy Goudy, daughter of Myrtle Goudy of 922 Reynolds St., Madison, is a member of the Friendship Players, a campus dance troupe sponsored by the Committee on Religious Life at Illinois College, Jacksonville.

A sophomore business major, she graduated from Madison High School in 1975. She also is a member of the band and a member of Gamma Delta Literary Society.

Illinois College remains one of only eight Phi Beta Kappa chapter colleges in Illinois and has one of the lowest tuition in the state. Comprehensive fees for tuition and room and board are under $3,000 per year at the state's oldest college, founded in 1829.

158-year-old Illinois a true 'melting pot'

This is Illinois History Week and tomorrow is Statehood Day, the 158th anniversary of Illinois statehood in 1818.

Following is a view of Illinois as a "melting pot" for many different nationalities. The author is Philip M. Hauser of the University of Chicago.

Illinois, consistent with the pattern for the entire nation, has been populated predominantly by a diversity of European stocks.

The first Europeans to visit the region were probably the French Father Jacques Marquette, a Jesuit, and Louis Joliet, an explorer.

In their explorations beginning in 1673 they, among other travels, ascended the Illinois River and crossed the portage to Lake Michigan.

Father Marquette in 1673 founded a mission at the Indian town of Kaskaskia near what is now Utica.

Marquette and Joliet were followed in 1679 by another explorer, LaSalle, who built a fort in the Lake Peoria area and reached the mouth of the Illinois River in 1682.

After explorations of this type, the French established permanent settlements beginning with Jesuit missions and trading posts.

In 1699 French priests founded a mission in the oldest town in Illinois—Cahokia.

In 1773, Illinois became part of the French colony of Louisiana.

By 1783, however, Illinois as part of the French territory was ceded to Great Britain after the French and Indian War under the Treaty of Paris.

By reason of Indian resistance, however, spearheaded by Pontiac, an Ottawa chief, the English were unable to take possession of the region until 1785.

By 1789, migratory streams from the east, mainly from Virginia, reached Illinois.

With the capture of Cahokia and Kaskaskia by George Rogers Clark's forces during the Revolutionary war, the Illinois area became a county of Virginia—and by 1783 a part of the United States under the treaty which ended the Revolutionary war.

As part of the United States, and the 21st state on Dec. 3, 1818, Illinois became the area of destination both of increasing streams of migrants from the Atlantic Seaboard and of immigrants from abroad.

The foreign born together with the native white of foreign or mixed parentage make up the "foreign white stock," as defined by the U.S. Bureau of the Census.

In 1960, foreign white stock constituted 34 per cent of the population of the United States but 51 per cent of the population of Illinois.

The state had become and has remained an area of opportunity for newcomers to the nation.

In 1960, foreign white stock made up 32 per cent of the population of the entire nation but 46 per cent of Illinois' population.

With the passage of legislation restricting immigration, foreign born and foreign white stock have, of course, diminished as a proportion of the total in the nation and in the state.

In 1960, first and second generation newcomers had shrunk to 18 per cent of the population of the U.S. and 24 per cent of the population of Illinois.

The predominant part of entry and area of settlement of immigrants in Illinois was the City of Chicago.

In 1960, first and second generation immigrants made up more than three-fourths of the population of the city 77 per cent, as compared with 51 per cent, of that of the state and 34 per cent of that of the nation.

DRAINAGE INSTALLATION begins Monday at Pershing Boulevard and Garden Drive in a $32,000 improvement that will include widening and resurfacing of Pershing from Marshall Avenue to Garden Drive. The city is financing the work with motor fuel taxes under a contract awarded to the CAM Construction Co. of Wood River. Improved drainage facilities are a major part of the project.

Rainfall 15 inches short

Drought conditions continued to plague the Quad-City area during November as only 61 of an inch of rain fell throughout the month and left the area 15.09 inches short of normal precipitation for this period of the year.

Rainfall occurred on only two days of last month, although a trace was registered on two other days. A trace is moisture too slight to be measured.

There was no precipitation on any day from Nov. 1 to Nov. 22 when a trace of snow was recorded. A trace also was recorded on Nov. 24, followed on Nov. 26 with .90 of an inch of rain during a 24-hour period. On Nov. 27 a light fall of .01 of an inch was measured.

The 61 of an inch precipitation during last month marked the fourth time during the 11 months of the year in which total rainfall was well below one inch and the ninth month in which total rainfall was less than the normal fall.

November's precipitation brought to 17.39 inches the total rainfall during the 11 months of the year, compared to a normal of 32.48 inches for the same period.

The year started on the dry side with only .46 of an inch of rain in January and an identical fall of .46 of an inch in February. The other two months in which precipitation was less than one inch were September with .62 of an inch against a normal of 2.76 inches, and last month's .61 of an inch against a normal of 2.57 inches.

The only two months so far this year in which rainfall has exceeded the normal precipitation were March in which 2.69 inches of rain fell, compared to a normal of 2.34 inches, and October in which 3.92 inches of precipitation was measured, compared to a normal of 2.86 inches.

Other months of the year were: April, 1.41 inches (normal 3.71 inches); May, 2.97 inches (3.73 normal); June, 1.12 (4.27); July, 1.49 (3.20); August, 1.64 (3.02).

Dixon win in Du Page a first for Democrats

By RAY SERATI
SPRINGFIELD — In marching to his massive victory in the secretary of state's race, state treasurer Alan J. Dixon also managed to carry Du Page county — the first time for a Democrat running for state office in the history of state.

Dixon of Belleville, which is across the Mississippi River from St. Louis, got 51.86 per cent of the vote in Du Page county, which in the past has always been described as one of the most Republican counties in the United States.

Even though he didn't carry the county, Comptroller-elect Michael Bakalis, a resident of Du Page county

"did well," according to county Democratic chairman William A. Redmond of Bensenville. Redmond is also the speaker of the Illinois House. Bakalis was the last statewide elected school superintendent to reside in Downers Grove. Prior to moving to Downers Grove, Bakalis was in De Kalb.

"Dixon is the first Democrat to carry the county," Redmond said. "President Franklin Roosevelt, nor Gov. Henry Horner carried the county. The late Gov. Otto Kerner did well in this county, but did not manage to carry it."

Dixon not only did well in Du Page county but managed to get a good vote from throughout all of the counties surrounding Cook county.

"I am gratified by the results which show that I am the first Democratic state candidate in the history of our state to win a majority of the votes in Du Page county," Dixon said.

"I am grateful to my many fine supporters," he said, "and voters for bestowing this historical honor on my candidacy. I will always do my best to be worthy of the confidence and support of the people of Du Page county and of the state of Illinois."

However, county posts up for election in Du Page county went to the Republicans as did the one state Senate seat up for election in the county. The Republicans also managed to keep control of the county's delegation in the House of Representatives.

"Our problem is that the Democrats always do better in off presidential election years," Redmond said.

All state officers now have a two year term but beginning in 1978 the terms will be for four years. But under the 1970 constitution beginning in 1978, state officers will be

North Concert Band to open new season

The Granite City High School North Concert Band will open the current concert season Monday, Dec. 6, at 8 p.m., at the South Auditorium with an hour-long presentation of concert band literature.

The occasion will be highlighted by the appearance of the band in formal wear, as has been traditional the past three years since High School North opened in the fall of 1973.

The 90-member concert band, filled during the election years when there isn't a presidential election.

Asked if this will help the Democrats in Du Page county, Redmond said, "This should be of help."

Elections do hold an interest in Du Page county. There were 70,000 new voter registrations since the March primary.

A total of 80.18 per cent of the registered voters in the county cast a ballot in the election, according to Redmond's figures.

The county reported to the state board of elections that it had 120,000 registered voters.

When Dixon ran for state treasurer in his first term in 1970, he got 48,122 votes in Du Page. His Republican opponent Edmund J. Kucharski received 58,945 votes.

under the direction of Robert D. Todoroff, will present a variety of music suited to all tastes and representative of a number of musical periods.

Featured on the program will be: "Prologue" by young German composer, Stephen Razo; "La Cid" Ballet music by Massenet; "The Rhapsody" by American composer Clifford Williams; "Scandinavian Polka" by Jerome Kern; "Phantom Drums of Wadi Run" by Jerry Henderson; "Bands Around the World," a musical travesty by Paul Yoder and Harold Walters.

"Oye Como Va" by Tito Puente, a Latin-percussion specialty as recorded by "Santana"; "Pa La La and All That," a Christmas specialty with a bit of holiday lightness, and "From Tropic to Tropic," a Concert March.

Members of the Pom-Pom "Steel City Belles" will be in charge of the programs. Introductory and welcoming remarks will be made by North Principal Gilbert V. Walmesley, Student Council President Fran Litzelman, and Band President Richard Bunch.

Arrangements for the concert are under the auspices of the Granite High North Band Parents Association. Harold Stoker is president. Admission to the concert is by season ticket, or 75 cents single admission for adults, 35 cents for students, or 10 cents for all band students.

The Concert Band will have its annual picture taken immediately following the concert for use in the North Yearbook and for individual prints available to all band members.

Plan agency ok's Hwy. 162 widening

A review of a proposal by the Illinois Department of Transportation to widen and resurface Highway 162 from Nameeki Road to Route 111 has been made by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission and certified with favorable comment to the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, it was reported Tuesday.

Theodore Mikesell, executive director of SIMRPC, said in a letter to Alan C. Richter, executive director of the Gateway Council, that no adverse environmental impacts are anticipated in the project.

Mikesell said: "The staff of Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission has reviewed the project. The proposed project is consistent with the state's highway resurfacing improvement program and will provide an improved riding surface, thereby improving traffic flow and capacity along this segment."

of Illinois Route 111. "No adverse environmental impacts are anticipated as a result of this project. The project will provide additional employment in an area of high unemployment."

The improvement will be subject to review of the Gateway council which serves as coordinator of highway improvements in the metropolitan area.

The Illinois Department of Transportation has announced plans to widen Highway 162 from Nameeki Road to Route 111 and to improve East 23rd Street from Nameeki Road to Highway 162. The work will be done at no cost to the city.

When the work is completed the improved section of East 23rd Street will be turned over to Granite City by the state. The city has approved a resolution in which it agrees to maintain the street.

According to a notice to the city, the state will widen the highway from its present 30 feet to 24 feet with four-foot shoulders on each side.

State has 'perfect' rating

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois has received a "perfect" rating for its residential facilities for the mentally retarded, the only state to receive the best possible score from a nationally known authority who recently surveyed such facilities in all states.

Analyzing national trends in residential care, Dr. Earl C. Butterfield studied the states in relation to costs per patient per day, the numbers in residential care for each 100,000 population and the number of admissions for 100,000 population. In addition, he considered such factors as capital expenditures, patient-employee ratios, releases, and "maintenance of effort in terms of trends."

Dr. Butterfield's survey has been published in the report of the President's Committee on Mental Retardation, titled "Changing Patterns in Residential Services for the Mentally Retarded."

The highest possible score in Butterfield's study was five, and that was the Illinois rating. Alabama rated the lowest of all states in the study, and Connecticut, Michigan and Pennsylvania achieved ratings of four.

Butterfield's examination has been summarized for the department by Dr. William Sloan, who for 10 years was head of the division of mental retardation in the Illinois Department of Mental Health. He is now a private consultant and conducted the study on Butterfield's research as a consultant at the department's request.

Covering the period from 1962 to 1975, Butterfield's study found that admissions numbers in the state went from 202 to 825 per year, while at the same time the number of residents in state institutions declined, reflecting increasing numbers of releases to community facilities.

Dr. Sloan's analysis shows that, according to Butterfield, the ratio of employees to residents improved more than six-fold during the time involved, from a ratio of 5.1 residents for each employee to a little better than one to one for each employee. Costs of care per patient per day have

Karen Machino heads tote unit

Mrs. Karen Machino, co-owner of the Hobby Horse Craft and Gift Shoppe, 2122 Pontoon Road, has been elected as president of the Gateway Tote Chapter of the National Society of Tote and Decorative Painters, Inc.

Mrs. Machino is the third president of the Gateway chapter which was formed in May 1974 and now has a membership of 150 persons. Mrs. Machino, who lives at 1704 Venice Ave., also is a certified teacher of tote and decorative painting in the national society.

The Gateway chapter covers the metropolitan area on both sides of the river. The national society which held its first convention in 1973 in Kansas City, Mo., with less than 100 persons attending, now has a membership of more than 6,000, Mrs. Machino said.

The national convention will be held in St. Louis in 1978, Mrs. Machino said.

gone up ten-fold, from $3.44 a day in 1962 to $36.39 in 1975. Since 1966, Illinois has spent more than the national average on patient care on a daily basis — at least through 1971, the last year for which national data is available.

Butterfield, who has held research positions at Yale and has been staff psychologist at the Southern Training School in Connecticut, did not consider accreditation of facilities by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, Dr. Sloan noted. Finding that "a criterion of quality of care, accreditation probably has more validity than any or all of the factors considered above," Dr. Sloan noted that when this criterion is included, Illinois' image improves even more.

As of last June 30, there were a total of 61 residential facilities for mentally retarded persons which had received accreditation from the joint commission throughout the entire U.S. The four states which received the highest marks in Butterfield's study showed Illinois well in the lead, with 15 accredited facilities. Michigan had three, Pennsylvania, two, and Connecticut, none.

This shows, Dr. Sloan's evaluation indicates, that Illinois has about 20 per cent of all the nationally accredited facilities for the mentally retarded.

CANNED GOODS COLLECTION kickoff participants include (left to right) Wes Laws of the Salvation Army, Larry Kessler, Wood River restaurant owner, Mrs. Captain Lodge of the Salvation Army and Leonard Yelton, owner of Kentucky Fried Chicken at 1510 Johnson Road, in Granite City. The cans are collected and distributed by the Salvation Army. In the last four years, more than 120,000 cans have been distributed. This year's campaign ends on Dec. 20.

Travelers learn merits of U.S.

Travelers abroad paid no attention to freeway places at their last meeting, but reviewed the splendors of the United States, combining it with a Bicentennial celebration.

The group met at Prather Junior High School and the speaker was Dan Roulund.

"Our own country has the world's largest canyon, the largest trees, the tallest cacti, by far the most remarkable geology and certainly the most scenic and diverse coastline," Roulund said.

In Yellowstone Park, the geyser Old Faithful, true to its name, erupts every 90 minutes and maintains this schedule throughout the year, the speaker said. The eruptions, which begin with a small burst of steam, rise steadily higher and higher until they reach a height of 150 feet. They last five minutes and recur hourly without variation.

While showing many pictures of the Grand Canyon, Roulund said travelers from all parts of the world agree that its beauty and grandeur are unique.

He showed views of Bonneville Salt Flats, Zion and Bryce Canyon National Parks, the Great Smokies and Niagara Falls.

The falls, on the American side, are hardly a tourist attraction anymore, Roulund noted. Vast rock slides have required the government to change the river's course so that the rocks may be removed and thus preserve the falls' potential.

Young people of the community are invited to share in this adventure in self-understanding, according to the Rev. Don Pierson.

In addition to the solid programs of interest and concern from a biblical perspective led by the pastor, wide-ranging events and activities appealing to young people are fostered by the Youth Fellowship. The newly-elected officers are: Andy Pierson, president; Bill Polley, vice president; Blenda Watts, secretary; and Becky Corzilius, treasurer. The group includes both junior and senior highs.

At 2 p.m. July 4, all the city's bells were rung, including the old Liberty Bell, now housed in a new pavilion, which had not sounded for 40 years.

The ceremony concluded with the National Anthem and a million voices singing "Happy Birthday, America," followed with a rousing message by the Rev. Ford, Roulund stated.

beauty, he explained. The Canadian falls retain their old beauty, he added.

The many monuments which immortalize the heroic journey of the Mormons to Utah in 1847, while the region still was Mexican territory, present a saga which the visitor can never forget, the speaker said.

Roulund concluded his talk with an account of his visit to the Bicentennial celebration in Philadelphia on July 4, 1976.

All the street cars, many of the buildings and some of the streets were painted red, white and blue, and the region around Independence Hall, formerly a blighted slum area, had been transformed into a mall.

Throughout the business district, Roulund said, enormous murals depicted historic scenes, such as Paul Revere's ride, the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and Betsy Ross sewing the flag.

Visitors numbered over one million, and thousands of residents in colonial costume marched through the streets in a parade which lasted 7 1/2 hours, Roulund said.

Heartland Naturale Beef Sale!! Just What Is Heartland Naturale Beef?

HEARTLAND NATURALE BEEF is sold exclusively at Schermer Brothers. This beef is the product of young meat type animals raised in the "heartland" of America. It is called "NATURALE" beef because it is raised on natural forage. It is not "force-fed" with vitamins, chemicals, or sophisticated feeds containing so called "supplements." It is tender and lean. Since it was "grown" naturally, as nature intended it, you find a minimum of fat not only in the meat itself (sometimes referred to as "marbling") but on the outside or "cover" as it is referred to, you find just enough fat for cooking purposes.

In addition, HEARTLAND NATURALE BEEF tastes good. You get the real natural beef flavor. Since this beef is raised on natural feed, you don't have to worry about strange tastes caused by unnatural food supplements.

'I SAID, THE NET NOISE
WILL BE REDUCED BY 1985!'

Frogs and rifles

One reason air travelers can jet across the skies at 600 MPH instead of 300 MPH in the slower prop planes is due to a discovery Sir Isaac Newton made way back in 1687. Yes, I said 1687—not 1787, 1887 or 1937!

Here it is, Newton's third law of motion: "For every action there is a reaction, equal in force and opposite in direction." This is the basic principle on which jet engines operate. (Actually, Newton didn't invent the law; he only stated it. To pinpoint the first jet engine, you must go back more than 2,000 years to an Egyptian by the name of Hero, who designed an aeolipile. Using compressed steam, it spun a metal ball.)

A rotating lawn sprinkler is an example of the jet principle. As the water squirts from the nozzles, the arms are pushed around and around in the opposite direction, spraying the water over the grass.

The recoil of a rifle is the same. Or a child's balloon. When he lets go of the stem, the emerging pressure forces the balloon in the opposite direction. Watch a frog jumping off a log. As he dives into the pond, the log moves backward.

"For every action there is a reaction, equal in force, and opposite in direction."

I see this principle at work in everyday life. The truth is that when anyone takes a forward step, reactions set in to induce a backward step. And unlike the jet engine, these reactions can serve as a drag. Just try coming up with a good idea, and then listen to all the "no's" that will follow it. So if we wait until the winds are favorable, we'll never unfurl our sails. Reaction is as certain as action; opposition is as strong as cooperation.

Next 13 years an integral part of the Bicentennial era

The Fourth of July parade, fireworks and festivities were not the end of the U.S. Bicentennial observance, but only a kind of beginning.

Madison's Bicentennial ball is planned for tomorrow night, a similar Granite City event is set for Dec. 12, and the impact of this year's patriotic resurgence may continue for another 13 years. The story of the republic's origin is likely to be told and retold in the Quad-Cities and elsewhere through the 200th anniversary of the ratification of the Constitution.

The trading of the nation's history provides an opportunity for citizens to prepare for—and help determine their destiny in—the next century.

Americans first identified their goals of self-government and independence 200 years ago. They then spent five years in the battle for freedom and another eight years in devising a durable system of government embracing the principles they had fought for.

They had the wisdom and fortitude to keep attacking their problems until they found the right answers. Surely, citizens are obliged to do no less today.

As the third century of independence begins, there are no fears of Redcoats occupying Philadelphia, but liberty and ideals still are threatened by the tyranny of oppressors and of neglect.

Justified confidence must be built in government, business, labor, education and religion. The energy crisis must be mastered, along with unemployment, inflation, poverty and crime.

It will be important that we give substantial thought to the continuing Bicentennial era by fostering a sense of national purpose and encouraging individual commitment and involvement. Our heritage deserves it, and our aspirations require it.

Progress, growth at auto frame facility in Granite City

Automotive industry model changes have caused extensive retooling within the A. O. Smith Corporation's Automotive Division at a time when demand was up substantially due to increased vehicle sales. Start-up problems, including the need to train more than 2,000 new workers, caused the division to operate near the break-even point and reduced earnings below the anticipated level.

But, while production efficiency for the new models had not progressed as rapidly as hoped, the division had a profitable month overall in September. And there was highly encouraging news this week about the Granite City auto frame plant—a 39,000-square-foot addition will be built as a parts storage and staging area, the latest of several major expansions over the past 22 years.

More than 1,000 employees have been hired at the local Smith plant within the year, increasing the total staff to 2,050.

Courts can rule on latest motion but we really do exist

It will be up to the courts to determine the merits of a post-trial motion filed this week by an attorney representing persons who oppose the current plan for installation of sanitary sewers in Chouteau-Namooki-Venice townships.

But we are not overly impressed by the lawyer's apparent doubt of the Press-Record's "existence at the time publication was attempted." We have not only attempted to do so, but have published without pause for nearly 74 years. And, in fact, we still exist, as today's 100-page issue may verify even to his satisfaction.

We also reject the attorney's frequent assertion, repeated in this week's motion, that "said newspaper refused to prevent even replies to the editor from the opposition's point of view." Actually, numerous opposition letters were printed in full, as readers—and the lawyer—know.

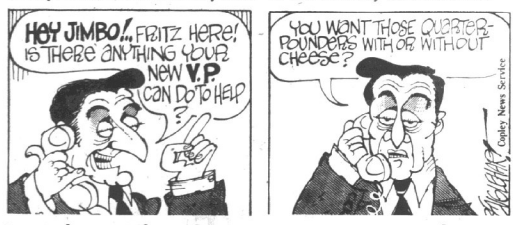

Success story on building crafts, contractors, industry

It is a pleasure to be able to report in today's issue the success of the coke battery rebuilding project just completed at Granite City Steel.

Further refuting myths and a negative national image regarding labor in this metropolitan area, the success story shows that quality work can be accomplished here rapidly, with crafts, contractors and owners all satisfied.

There were major savings in construction costs and also in costs related to the length of time the battery was out of service.

Local retail store services praised

To the Editor:

For many years, I traveled to St. Louis, or to some of the nearby shopping centers in the county, to find clothes for myself and my family.

I was under the impression that, to find a variety of stores and a large selection, I had to leave the Granite City area.

I did go to St. Louis and I did find a nice selection, but I also had to wait while sales people talked among themselves. When they finally did wait on me, I felt either rushed or pushed into a sale.

How often has this happened to others? How many of you have ever met the owner of one of the St. Louis department stores?

Within the past year, I had the occasion to go to Downtown Granite City to do some shopping.

I found, to my very pleasant surprise, that the local merchants have a large selection of fine wearing apparel.

And if they do not have what you want in stock, they will do their utmost to order it for you. The merchants do care. They want your business and will do all they can to keep you happy.

The owners are in their stores and communicate, not only with their sales personnel but with us, the customers.

I have personally met and am greeted by most of the local merchants as I enter their shops.

If I have to make an exchange, it is done so without any questions.

Most stores offer alterations to their customers. Our jewelry stores offer a very professional bridal service.

My children have never been refused the use of a restroom. These "little extras" make shopping a pleasant experience.

There are specialty stores here for ladies, men, and children as well as fine shops that show gifts and accessories to match any shopping center in the area.

Favors limit on state legislative pay

To the Editor:

A $15,000 yearly raise for Illinois legislators? They've got to be kidding.

Maybe a raise from $20,000 to $22,000 or $23,000 would be reasonable, to compensate for inflation in the last two years.

But this is pure greed. The federal Congress set a bad example a few years back, by greatly raising its pay to $42,500, now almost $45,000. A salary of $35,000 would be reasonable for congressmen, in view of their greater responsibility and their need to maintain two homes, but it's far too much for state legislators.

Pay comparable to that earned by college professors or small businessmen ought to be enough to encourage competent people to run.

It's completely phony for politicians to talk about their concern for "the little man," or the poor, and then jack up their own salary after the election.

We need some kind of constitutional amendment to limit legislative salary increases to not more than inflation. But how could it get passed?

GLENN T. WILSON
Edwardsville

In announcing the price hikes, steel firms said they were needed because of continuing cost increases and inadequate profit margins.

President Ford ordered the Council on Wage and Price Stability to study the move that could be interpreted as an effort to put pressure on the firms not to increase prices.

The Council has no power to stop price increases, but, if it said they were not justified, the firms would be under pressure to rescind them.

Two recent statements by leading economists support the view that corporate profits generally have been too low in recent years.

Peter L. Bernstein, writing in the current Morgan Guaranty Survey, says "profitability has been most favorable when inflation rates have been lowest," and that profitability is the cause of stable prices.

And the Federal Reserve Board endorsed the Investment Policy Act of 1976, which stresses the need to "provide sufficient incentive to assure maximum investment in private enterprise in order to increase the production of goods, the providing of services, the employment of workers, the opportunity for profit and the payment of taxes."

Both statements indicate the need for greater investment in the economy, and that the rate of return is improved.

Henry Wallich, the Federal Reserve Board's premier testifying on the proposed bill, pointed out that trends in corporate investment have not been particularly favorable in and signs that say "Welcome home. Come live with us under the laws and regulations you passed."

Pointing to recent statements by President-elect Jimmy Carter, Connolly said the best indications of what the new President will do will be evident from the background of the persons he names to his cabinet.

That will be when he'll know what course he'll be on," Connolly said.

The American people will be watching closely to see what his priorities are, what he intends to do about reducing unemployment and bringing the inflationary rate down.

"Mr. Carter has said he hopes to bring the unemployment rate down to between five and seven per cent, which indicates he knows there is no 'quick fix' to the unemployment problem—no easy answers," he added.

He predicted Mr. Carter will have a short "honeymoon" with Congress, ending when the new President attempts to implement his announced goal of government reorganization.

The new President will have an extremely difficult time with Congress in this area, with Congress fighting any effort to change the status quo or remove bureaucrats and government leaders from their entrenched positions, Connolly said.

He forecast that the housing situation will not be influenced greatly by the Carter administration next year.

He predicted new homes will be built at the rate of between 1.6 million and 1.8 million units in 1977, depending on the confidence Americans show in the nation's economy.

Connolly also predicted that Mr. Carter as President "will be tested by the Soviets somewhere in the world" within a short time after he takes office.

"We must understand that when we elect a President, we elect a leader of the free world. The world watches what we do, and that many foreign businesses have been able to gain competitive advantage over U.S. enterprises. Labor productivity increased 3.4 per cent a year from 1947 to 1966, but only 1.1 per cent from the 1967 to 1974.

This slower rate of improvement suggests that additions to capital stock of business have been insufficient, Wallich said.

The ratio of the net capital stock to the labor force increased 3.8 per cent a year in the 1960s but only 1.1 per cent a year since then.

This same picture of diminishing capacity of investment shows up in the Federal Reserve Board's new figures on manufacturing capacity.

I grew 5.2 per cent a year in the 1960s, but only 3.4 per cent a year since then.

Both Wallich and Bernstein point to the low rate of return on capital in recent years as a factor in the slower capacity growth and improvement in productivity.

After-tax profits of non-financial corporations, adjusted for inflation, in recent quarters have been about 2.3 per cent of gross national product, compared with about 4 per cent in the mid-1960s, when capacity was growing rapidly.

Wallich warned that a revival of inflation would again severely damage corporate cash flow and saving and investment.

One of the strongest contributions we could make to private investment is to bring down the inflation rate to a reasonable price stability," he concluded.

Bernstein noted that inflation was worst when increases in wage rates accelerated and productivity improvements slowed or became negative.

On the other hand, from 1958 to 1965—when consumer prices rose at a 1.3 per cent annual rate—output per man-hour rose almost as rapidly as hourly wage rates.

When profits lag behind wages, and the inflation rate is relatively high, and when wages lag behind profits, the inflation rate tends to decline.

He believes the inflationary process will go on until the rate of return on investment—and the share of total income going to profits—begin at least to approach the levels of the 1950s and 1960s.

Bernstein notes that many labor contracts have built-in wage increases that are double reasonably-expected improvements in productivity.

The large spread between wages and productivity "can lead only to an unsustainable rapid rate of price increase that will bring on another severe financial crisis, or—if prices go down rapidly—will cause a severe profit squeeze that business will go into hibernation and refuse to expand capacity."

Either way, labor inevitably will be squeezed.

The messages seem clear: Keep wages in step with productivity gains.

When profits lag behind wages, and the inflation rate is relatively high, and when wages lag behind profits, the inflation rate tends to decline.

He believes the inflationary process will go on until the rate of return on investment—and the share of total income going to profits—begin at least to approach the levels of the 1950s and 1960s.

For only $1.58, you can make a ten-minute Long Distance call to the farthest point in the United States.

It's almost 2,000 miles from Illinois to Patrick's Point in northern California. By our calculations, it's about the farthest point from Illinois in the United States (excluding Alaska and Hawaii). Yet for just $1.58, you can call Patrick's Point by Long Distance and talk for ten minutes.

All you have to do is dial direct. And call on the weekend—anytime Saturday or before 5 p.m. Sunday. Now if you can make a ten-minute call as far away as Patrick's Point for only $1.58—obviously, it would cost even less to call Topeka or Pittsburgh or just about anywhere else in the U.S.

Direct-Dial rates do not apply to coin, hotel-guest, hospital patient, credit card, collect or person-to-person calls, or to calls charged to another number, because an Operator must be involved with such calls. They do apply on calls placed with an Operator from a residence or business phone where Direct-Dial facilities are not available. Rates quoted do not include tax.

Truck test procedure suspensions

Illinois Transportation Secretary Langhorne Bond announced Monday that eight certified mechanics or lane inspection operators have been suspended for inspection violations of buses, trucks or trailers. Two are Granite Cityans.

The individuals were cited for allegedly issuing certificates of safety without following the proper testing methods under the Illinois Vehicle Code and the Department of Transportation's Rules and Regulations.

All second division vehicles (buses, trucks and trailers) are inspected at designated inspection lanes by specified mechanics. Both the inspection lanes and mechanics are certified under state law by the Department of Transportation. Action was taken against the following local individuals: Richard A. Long, owner of Richards' Service, 2201 W. Chain of Rock Road, Granite City, lane inspection permit suspended for 30 days, effective Nov. 23.

Ralph J. Wottowa, certified mechanic at Richards' Service, Granite City, suspended from giving safety tests for 30 days, effective Nov. 23.

guaranteed to please Monty Python fans, will be televised at 11 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 12. New television dramas include "Dear Love," a dramatization of the Robert Browning-Elizabeth Barrett courtship starring Keith Michell and Geraldine McEwan, at 9 p.m. this Saturday.

On Saturday, Dec. 11, at 9 p.m., Bill Bixby and Valerie Perrine will star in an encore performance of Bruce Jay Friedman's bizarre play, "Steamboat."

"Elizabeth R" will premiere at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 14, and run each weeknight through Dec. 21.

Channel 9's music specials will include every form, from classical to country. On Dec. 18 at 6 p.m., the experimental video group TTV takes an irreverent look at Super Bowl week.

Carter impresses Illinoisans on Hill

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

President-elect Jimmy Carter captivated Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., and Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., on a day-long visit with members of Congress.

On the House side, Rep. John B. Anderson, third-ranking House Republican, and Rep. Edward J. Derwinski, a leading Illinois conservative, also were impressed.

Emerging from Mr. Carter's meeting with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last week, Percy said the president-elect asked him to talk to Midwest leaders, many of whom Percy knows, about a threatened oil price increase.

Percy said Carter believes a price increase would be self-defeating and "would not be very good for our relationship."

Sen. Percy promised to call five to seven OPEC leaders. Told that he appeared "vastly encouraged" by Mr. Carter's Congressional visit, Percy was asked if he indeed feels that way. "I am, really," he said.

"Carter has a way of reaching out which is quite remarkable. The senator characterized Mr. Carter as a 'well-read, well-studied' incoming President already 'well conversant with world problems.'"

He said the appearance on Capitol Hill should do much to allay "a good deal of nervousness in the diplomatic areas."

Percy said he suggested that Congress "be brought in" early on foreign policy, "not after a fait accompli," and the senator seemed reassured by the response.

Stevenson, whom Mr. Carter had considered as a potential vice-presidential candidate, told reporters he sees "tremendous strength" in Mr. Carter and believes that the campaign themes will become the foundation of future policy.

"My views about him haven't changed, but they have developed some more," Stevenson said without elaboration, implying he likes what he saw.

Stevenson was especially pleased with the Carter policy on government reorganization, inasmuch as it squares with his own philosophy that Congress also needs to be overhauled.

Stevenson is chairman of a select Senate Committee on Committees which has proposed reorganization and consolidation of various committees. This will be an early issue on the next Congressional agenda.

Like Percy, Stevenson said the meeting dealt more with procedures than substantive matters.

Voicing confidence in the Carter "potential for leadership," Sen. Stevenson said Mr. Carter expects "loyal opposition" from Congress.

"Congress isn't here to be a rubber stamp," Stevenson said. Congressman Anderson told reporters he thought the President-elect was "very forthcoming and wants very much to work with Congress."

"Republicans want to be cooperative when he can be of help on matters on which we can agree."

"However, a single meeting with the President-elect will not resolve all the differences between republicans and democrats."

Anderson said he pointed out that House Democrats when they caucus Dec. 6 are expected to propose the dismantling of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

He suggested to Mr. Carter that his staff study the implications of this proposal before it becomes an accomplished fact and impacts on his own pending reorganization plans.

Cong. Derwinski said he found him "completely informed."

He said that Mr. Carter, "quite properly, acknowledged that he was the President-elect and not the incumbent, and should therefore confine himself to discussion of the transition and not to substantive issues."

"I was impressed by his attempt to make a smooth transition," Derwinski said.

Mayor's ball to end GC Bicentennial observance

Confirmations of attendance are now being received for attendance at the final event of Granite City's year-long Bicentennial celebration, the mayor's Christmas ball.

The ball will be held Sunday, Dec. 12, at the Madison County Firemen's Hall, 9610 Collinsville Road, beginning with a cocktail period from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Dancing will be from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Monday.

Music will be provided during the cocktail period by Ralph Winn, "Mr. Music," with music for dancing provided by the Joey James Orchestra. Other "surprise" entertainment is planned. Tickets are $10 each. Dress will be optional.

Since this will be the final opportunity for each of us to celebrate the Nation's 200th anniversary, you can help insure a successful celebration by attending the Mayor's Christmas Ball. Casper Nighossian, chairman of the Bicentennial Commission, said Tuesday.

Mrs. Bernadine Hagnauer is chairwoman of the ball, and Don Parente, Granite City fire chief, is ticket chairman.

Nighossian asked those planning to attend to confirm their attendance as soon as possible. He said all checks should be made payable to The Granite City Bicentennial Commission and mailed to Rich Chosich, executive secretary of the commission, City Hall, Granite City.

Tickets also may be purchased at the office of City Clerk Robert Stevens in the City Hall between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. daily.

Wild garlic a problem now

By RON CORNWELL, Madison County Agricultural Advisor

Wild garlic is being reported as a problem this fall in some areas of Southern Illinois. Wheat should not be sprayed until spring, as fall spraying on wheat may affect tillering. If you have a garlic problem in wheat, now is the time to mark your calendar for spraying in late March or early April when wheat is about four to eight inches high.

If garlic is a problem in fence rows, grass pastures, small grain stubble or non-crop waste area, late fall treatment should be effective. Treatment then is usually better than earlier treatments, as more plants are up and growing and can be controlled by spraying.

To treat non-crop land areas, apply two to three quarts per acre of 2,4-D ester. Best results are obtained on a fairly warm, sunny day.

By using a well planned garlic control program this fall, spraying wild garlic in wheat in the spring and using good tillage and cultivating in row crops, the problem of wild garlic on your farm can be decreased.

Several Madison County farmers may be interested in the 1977 superior farming seminar to be held at the Champaign Ramada Inn near the University of Illinois' Urbana campus.

This year, five courses are being offered over a four-day period. Parts of the courses will overlap or run concurrently. Some classes will be repeated so that an operator will be able to choose and attend as many as three of the five courses.

Programs being offered this year are "Land Control: Ownership vs. Leasing," "How to Handle the Tax Bite on Farm Estates," "Using More Than A Crystal Ball to Forecast Grain and Livestock Prices," "Staying on Top in Crop Production" and "Beef Production: Gearing Up For the Years Ahead."

Registration is $50 per course. For additional information on the seminars, Quad-Cityans may contact the Agricultural Extension office, 900 Hillsboro, Edwardsville.

ENTER, RANSACK HOUSE A neighbor noticed the rear door was forced open at the home of Louise Daniel, 2706 Denver St., and summoned police at 12:15 p.m. Thursday. Officers found the rear door had been kicked open and the house had been ransacked. A list of missing items is to be prepared.

Social service counseling on placement, care of ill, elderly

For reasons of ill health, Grandmother could no longer care for herself. She was on several medications, and it was evident that she would require qualified persons to attend to her medical—as well as personal—daily needs.

Her son and daughter-in-law, both working full-time, live in the same city. Financially, they realize, neither one of them can afford to quit his or her job. Nor are they qualified to give the grandmother proper health care.

Her physician recommends a nursing home. Although they understand this might be best for her, their fondness for her causes them anxiety and confusion.

"What do we do?" they ask. Although the preceding situation is a hypothetical one, it is not an unrealistic one, a spokesman at St. Elizabeth Hospital said this week.

In October, 68 persons were assisted in nursing home placement and discharge planning, according to statistics of the local hospital's Social Service Department.

Of the 68 instances, the department reported, many family members experienced uneasy feelings similar to those cited.

Recognizing a need concerning the patient and his or her family in dealing effectively with nursing home placement or home care arrangements, St. Elizabeth's Social Service Department is conducting discussion groups on these subjects.

In addition to general discussions on placement topics, the social workers answer questions on Medicare, and make arrangements for equipment for patients in homes. They offer suggestions on placement, such as family observation of several nursing homes before making a final decision.

"Talking about and sharing feelings with other people who have the same problem probably are the most successful ways to relieve the anxiety," according to Debbie Thorsen, one of four social workers active in the program. Persons from the Quad-City

Opera auditions at SIUE

Eighth annual district auditions of the Metropolitan Opera National Council's Regional Auditions Program will be held Jan. 28 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, according to William Tarwater, chairman of the SIUE department of music.

The auditions for the 35-county area will begin at 1 p.m. in the Communications Building theater. The most promising contestants heard at the Southern Illinois District Auditions will be selected to compete against other district audition winners from the Central region. Regional semi-finals and finals will be sent to New York at National Council expense to compete in the national semi-finals, March 13.

The Central region winner and the winners of the 15 other regions will audition before the general manager and his artistic staff on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House.

The deadline for applications for the auditions program is Jan. 7. Application form and other information may be obtained by writing to Chairman Tarwater at the SIUE department of music.

Co-sponsoring the district event are the Friends of Music of SIUE, with Mrs. Ann Burdette Dailey and Mr. Gene Sternberg acting as co-chairmen. The district includes the counties of Madison, Jersey, Calhoun, Greene, Macoupin, Montgomery and Bond, all counties touched by Highway 50, and all Illinois counties south of the highway.

Applicants for the auditions must have been a resident or student in the Southern Illinois district for the past 12 months.

and be within the following age limits: sopranos, 18-30; mezzo-sopranos, 20-30; tenors, 20-32; baritone, 20-32; and basses, 20-33.

Contestants must be prepared to sing a minimum of five arias, in more than one language and of contrasting style. "Applicants must have a voice with operatic possibilities, some voice training, musical background, and artistic aptitude," Tarwater said, "but no professional experience or finished training is required."

District awards include first, $75; second, $50; third, $35. Regional awards are: first, $300 cash award and an all-expense paid trip to New York; second, $200; and third, $100.

Contestants must be sponsored by a school, college, music club or a voice teacher, the chairman said. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the SIUE department of music.

HOLIDAY GATHERING

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Judd entertained over 100 guests at their Thanksgiving holiday dinner, Virginia, of Collinsville and their son, Dr. Richard J. Judd, his wife, Andrea, and their children, Laura, Francine and Richard II.

The event was in celebration of Richard acquiring his Ph.D. degree from the University of Georgia. Virginia is earning her degree of educational specialist from SIUE this fall; and Andrea Judd earning her B.A. degree in psychology from Rockhurst College, Kansas City, Mo., in May.

New jails, prisons could curb crime—chief judge

More and better prison and jail facilities are the keys to taking criminals off the streets and reducing crime, Harold Clark, chief judge of the Third Judicial Circuit Court, told the Crime Prevention Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce during a luncheon meeting in Granite City Monday afternoon.

"If we had the facilities, we would be sentencing more of these criminals to serve 20, 30 or 90 days in jail, rather than either setting them free or sentencing them to state prisons where they are exposed to hardened criminals and other problems," Clark stated.

"He said a new Madison County jail should be the top priority for the county and should be supported by everyone wanting better law enforcement."

Judge Clark also said more state prisons are needed, noting that the state has not built a new prison in many years. "They are holding a record number of prisoners this year and there is just not enough room," he said. The judge also said continuation of such law enforcement programs as the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois deserve high priority in state spending.

Chief Ronald Veizer of the Granite City Police Department and Chief Ralph "Dewey" Brawley of the Venice Police Department noted that the MEG grant is about to expire. They urged that the program be continued, funded either by state or local funds.

"These undercover officers from MEG are the only way we can deal with drug pushers. Our officers are known to the pushers and cannot be effective in stopping drug traffic," Veizer said.

Clark also criticized the Department of Corrections and the State Parole Board, saying, "I can sentence a criminal to 50 to 100 years in prison, but it is all out of my hands after that. The Department of Corrections and the Parole Board then take over."

He said recent state proposals by Gov. Daniel Walker and others for flat time sentences for certain crimes, with no chance for parole, may be one answer to keeping criminals in jail longer.

He said that abolishing the Parole Board, which is inherent in most flat-sentence legislation, would be worth taking the discretion of sentences from the judges.

"After 10 years of leniency on the part of the courts, I think we are seeing a turnaround."

"In Madison County, you are seeing stiffer sentences and more prosecution."

"When we get a new county jail, replacing the one we built over 100 years ago, there will be even stiffer sentences, even for first offenders," Judge Clark concluded.

Late adolescents face question of identity

By DARLENE HEER

Madison County Extension Adviser, Home Economics "Who am I?" Late adolescents—youths from 18 to 21 or 22 years of age—pose this question of identity.

Conflicts over their personal values, actions and decisions during this transition period between adolescence and adulthood seldom leave them at rest emotionally.

The late adolescent is looking for a stable, balanced view of himself—one that would remain more or less steady through life. What a person thinks of himself comes from a variety of sources. It may come from the values of the community or of his family. Or, it may be from the values of conflicting groups of friends.

Young adolescents either do as their parents have told them or do the opposite. Either way of acting is expected and accepted as normal.

But late adolescents stand rather alone without clear guides as to how to act. Emphasis is often upon being free and "doing their own thing." Yet they often lack the background to proceed with sureness.

Trial and error or imitation of others may become the pattern for who they want to be, rather than the result of making well-thought choices.

The emerging adult cannot postpone these decisions forever. Distinct changes in his life may force the issue. There comes the time for moving from known, familiar environments to the unknown, impersonal world, whether the youth is starting a job, entering college or moving from home. All bring with them uncertainty as to how to fit in.

With the move from the home shelter there is a certain amount of fear of how that world will accept and respect individual uniqueness and abilities. Questions threaten feelings of readiness and security in the decisions made. Anger may result from the frustrations over deciding what to do and then trying to do it.

As late adolescents emerge into adulthood, decisions are made which will affect life for years to come. Characteristics are accepted which identify between adolescence and adulthood seldom leave them at rest emotionally.

Parents need to recognize the struggles faced during these crucial years. But they must not forget the importance of allowing their late adolescents to make the final decisions.

CAR OVERTURNS

Carroll Waddell, 20, of 11 Victoria Drive, suffered a cut to his hand when his car went out of control and overturned in the roadway at the southwest corner of Route 111 and Pontoon Road during the weekend. A passenger in the car escaped injury. Waddell's injury did not require hospital treatment. Pontoon Beach police said the intersection appeared to be glazed with ice at the time of the accident.

House damaged

Vandals kicked in the front door of a vacant house at 2504 Northbridge and caused extensive damage in the house, it was reported Monday.
Police said there were signs the house, now under control of the Federal Housing Administration, has been used for numerous parties recently and the back yard is littered with beer cans.

In the living room, mud and spit have marred the walls, which also have been struck and cracked in several places. In the bathroom, the sliding glass doors to the medicine cabinet and the metal plate over the exhaust fan have been broken.

In the garage, paneling has been punched through and some boards have been stolen.

Full Gospel Church dedication

The Full Gospel Baptist Church and its relatively new congregation will hold dedication services at 2 p.m. Sunday at its new church building, located at the corner of Orville and Vine avenues.

The Rev. Jack L. Smith, pastor, said the congregation was organized in June of this year by 30 local residents and now has a membership of 65. Since its establishment and growth to more than double the initial size, the congregation has been meeting and holding services at the home of Roger Feltmeyer, the pastor said.

Purchase of a building became necessary as more members joined the Full Gospel Church and further expansion is foreseen.

The property, which includes a parsonage and a church annex also, has been acquired from the Church of God, whose membership is constructing a new edifice on West Pontoon Road.

Meanwhile, it was learned, the Church of God congregation is holding services at a local school.

In addition to the dedication service Sunday, the minister said two deacons will be ordained. They are Everett Feltmeyer and Robert Lindsey. Principal speaker will be the Rev. George Dougherty, pastor of Alpha Chapel Baptist Church in Godfrey.

The Full Gospel Baptist Church is an independent church body and not affiliated with the Southern Baptist Association.

Prospective members and the general public are invited to attend the dedication and subsequent services and programs, the Rev. Smith announced.

TWO WOMEN HURT

Phama Douglas, 29, and Sharon Lalletment, 33, both of 3801 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, were injured in an auto accident and were treated and released at 4:30 p.m. Monday from St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Mrs. Douglas suffered pain to her neck and left shoulder and Mrs. Lalletment suffered pain to her back.

READY FOR WORSHIPERS. The Full Gospel Baptist Church, located at the corner of Orville and Vine avenues, is the background for the Rev. Jack L. Smith, pastor, who will conduct dedication services at the new building at 2 p.m. Sunday. The building, parsonage and annex were acquired by the 65-member Full Gospel congregation from the Church of God, whose membership is constructing a new church on West Pontoon Road.

TOOLS ARE STOLEN
Power tools valued at a total of about $250 were stolen during a burglary at the Mitchell Auto Mart, 501 E. Chain of Rocks Road, Mitchell. It was discovered Monday. The front door was forced open to gain entry.

Hospital services explained to BPW Club

Emphasizing that St. Elizabeth Hospital is a top notch health care facility, Mrs. Jinny Tuetken, public relations director, reported a total body scanner, the latest in diagnostic equipment, has been purchased at a cost of $500,000 and will be installed within the next few months at the local hospital.

Mrs. Tuetken described services available at the hospital and specifically the department she heads for members of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club at its dinner meeting at Charlie's Restaurant.

The occasion served to commemorate the club's 55th anniversary and to honor past presidents. Mrs. Sylvia Wright, BPW president, presided, and Mrs. Becky Slate, dinner chairman, was in charge of the program.

"A Day in the Life of a Public Relations Director" was the topic of Mrs. Tuetken, who commented, "I believe St. Elizabeth Hospital is an excellent health care facility, with a good staff and the very latest in diagnostic equipment. If I didn't believe those things, I wouldn't be standing here telling you about them."

She said her responsibilities include informing the hospital associates and the community of the quality of their institution.

Mrs. Tuetken also discussed the in-house Hospital publication, difficulties in communication, and the operation and special functions covered by a public relations department. A question and answer period ensued following her remarks.

To honor the club's past leaders, Mrs. Lela Wetton and Mrs. LaVelle Stephens presented carnations to the past presidents attending and placed them in a vase honoring those unable to attend and those deceased.

The Granite City BPW Club's past presidents are:

Mrs. Dorothy Buehner, 1921-22; Miss Pearl Rosenberg, 1923-24; Miss Dorothy Hand, 1925-26; Miss Daisy Pick, 1927-28; Mrs. Dorothy Kleffman, 1929-30; Mrs. Pearl Ryckman, 1931-32 (deceased); Mrs. Mildred Davis, 1933; Mrs. Jeanne Reisemay, 1934 (deceased); Mrs. Blanche Pearing, 1935-36 (deceased); Mrs. Ruth Weston, 1937-38; Mrs. Mary Mortensen, 1939; Mrs. Pearl Barnfield, 1940; Mrs. Lottie Scherrer, 1941-42 (deceased); Mrs. Irene Hill, 1943-44; Mrs. Pearl Ryckman, 1945 (deceased); Mrs. Loretta Reiske, 1946; Miss Morene Groshong, 1947-48 (deceased); Mrs. Winifred Costello, 1949; Mrs. Elvira Thurber, 1950-51; Mrs. Irene Hill, 1952-53; Miss Margaret Hays, 1954; Miss Irene Hickam, 1955-56; Mrs. Ruth Huxel, 1957-58; Mrs. Dolores Allen, 1959-60; Mrs. Verna Lengyel, 1961-62; Mrs. Vernice Wortman, 1963; Miss Dorothy Davis, 1964; Mrs. Helen Bissel, 1965; Nina Bigley, 1966; Mrs. Mary Batson, 1967-68; Mrs. Emily Allord, 1969-70; Mrs. Pauline Weir, 1971-72; Mrs. Lillie Marzuff, 1973; Miss Annelise Smith, 1974; and Mrs. Rosemary Bassen, 1975.

Reviewing the club's history, Miss Annelise Smith, Individual Development Program coordinator, said the club organized on Nov. 4, 1921 with 23 charter members after Mrs. Clara Needles, a prominent local clubwoman, interested other business women.

Assisted by the East St. Louis BPW Club, the group expanded to 100 members and affiliated with the state and national federations in 1922, and the International Business and Professional Women in 1931.

Among local club's early projects were fostering a community Christmas tree in 1922 and establishing a park on the lot where City Hall now stands, Miss Smith said. They instigated changing street names, a prominent local clubwoman, interested other business women.

The club maintained an employment bureau placing some members in responsible positions and aided others to attain jobs prior to the depression; helped to establish mail service in the Tri-City Park area in 1926; planted trees throughout the city and raised funds for the school hot lunch program.

The Granite City BPW Club also arranged an educational program at the YMCA, offering typing, business English and arithmetic five afternoons and evenings each week to individuals ranging in age from 17 to 50.

Miss Smith commented upon a discussion in 1938 when it was decided to serve less food at dinner meetings as many members were unable to pay 65 cents.

During World War II, the club worked with the Civil Defense Council and the Post War Planning Council of Granite City and Madison and rolled bandages for the American Red Cross.

Today, the club continues its civic and social activities by ringing bells for the Salvation Army at Christmas, purchasing equipment for the YMCA and giving flags to Boy Scout troops.

The group also has representation on many organizations in the Quad-Cities, including the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, Salvation Army, Advisory Board, School for Crippled Children, United Way and Tri-City Area YMCA.

Dr. Felicia Koch, a local physician and BPW member, honored the club by being chosen Illinois Mother of the Year and St. Louis Woman of Achievement, Miss Smith said.

The Pearl Ryckman and Verna Lengyel scholarship awards were initiated to help the working woman further her education. Some years ago, the club started the Individual Development Program as set forth by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Miss Smith, who has coordinated the program for the past four years, said from these courses four district speak-off winners resulted and one state winner, Mrs. Lois Wetton.

The club has strived for 55 years to elevate the standards of women in business and the professions and has promoted the interests of business and professional women, Miss Smith said.

Other objectives include bringing about a spirit of cooperation among business and professional women of the United States and extending opportunities to women through education in scientific, educational and industrial fields. "And, we have only just begun," Miss Smith stated.

Mrs. Betty Roberson, public relations chairman, announced members will travel to KETC-TV Channel 9 in St. Louis Saturday to help the public broadcasting station recruit new members. Anyone interested in joining in the project is asked to call Mrs. Roberson at 931-0353 after 6 p.m.

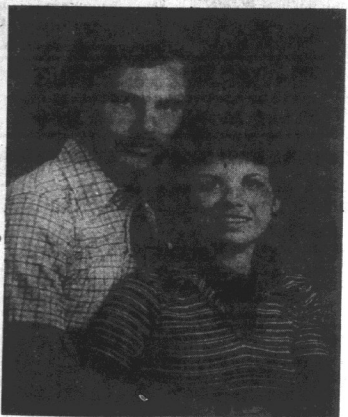

Mrs. Pauline Weir said the annual Christmas party will take place Dec. 15 at 6:30 p.m. at the Barrel Restaurant. Any working woman is invited to attend and may call Mrs. Weir

NEW TREATMENT PLANT for waste water is being built on Granite City Steel property adjacent to Horseshoe Lake. Costing more than $10 million, the new facilities are expected to be completed in mid-1977. The treatment plant will further improve the quality of water that is discharged into the lake after it is used to cool various steel mill processes. The water will be recycled, reducing overall water intake and discharge; when put into Horseshoe Lake it already is cleaner than when it is received at the Chain of Rocks Canal. The photograph shows the main treatment building. Work also is in progress on a pump house.

Rabbits are winter threat to plants

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
Ornamental Horticulturist
Wild rabbits and wintering birds will bring nature to your back yard. But if these rabbits begin to nibble a favorite shrub, or an entire raspberry planting, you are in trouble.
Rabbits will begin to sample flowering crabapples, small fruit trees, winged euonymus, azaleas, and raspberries when other food gets scarce. A few ripped-off twigs is the beginning of a steady diet that will gradually ruin, or kill, your plants.
Trees and shrubs can be easily protected by fencing the plant, wrapping the trunk, or using a repellent. Wire screen will easily control rabbits as long as it's at least 15 inches tall. Tree wrap, plastic tree protectors, and wire screen should be used to protect tree trunks.

Rabbit repellent products available in garden stores make the plants taste bitter. These products are mixed with water and sprayed on the trunks. They should be re-applied in February.
When applying repellents, or putting up a mechanical barrier, plan on one or two snow storms. Rabbits standing on top of a snow bank and stretching out may get above a normal wrapping or coat of repellent.

• We want you to get what we advertise, so we plan ahead to have ample supplies. If a sell-out occurs, just see our Cashier for a 30-day sale-price "RAIN-CHECK".

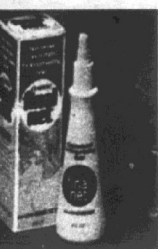

• Our policy: Each advertised item is required to be readily available for sale at or below the advertised price at all stores listed, unless specifically otherwise noted in this ad. (Our "As Advertised" store signs point them out to you.)

• Special sale-period prices are indicated by "Sale" or coupons. Any others are our low everyday Walgreen prices. Some regular prices quoted may vary at some stores. (Right reserved to limit quantities on all items.)

PLEASE

Sometimes it happens: Sold Out. Ordinarily, you'd get a "Rain Check," but at Christmas time so many holiday items are ONE-TIME BUYS, not reorderable. So be early, and be sure you get what you came for!

Should any Premium 48 battery fail (not merely discharged) within the designated replacement period, the battery may be replaced by the original manufacturer to K mart for replacement at no charge upon presentation of sales receipt. After the replacement period but before the expiration date of the warranty, K mart will replace a failed battery to the original owner, charging only for the period of ownership, based on the current price at the time of return presented over the total warranted months, by battery type. This warranty does not apply to batteries which have been damaged, misused, or commercially used by the purchaser.
